Meat Industry Denies Strike Against Curbs

Washington (AP)—Beef industry spokesmen told to a congressional committee last night they are not "on strike" against beef price rollbacks. They said they cannot buy beef animals at existing government ceilings.

A dozen of the industry's top spokesmen appeared before the Senate-House Defense Production "watchdog" committee in an unusual night session.

Chairman Maybank (D-SC) said Congress wanted to know if the industry was rebelling against price rollbacks by witholding livestock.

Rosco C. Haynie, vice president in charge of beef operations for the Wilson Packing Co., said packers are unable to buy live cattle at government ceiling price levels.

Meanwhile, a new price program loomed for the clothing industry. Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) officials said it will not have much effect on the total family wardrobe budget—but prices on some garments would go up and prices on others would be rolled back.

In another controls development last night, Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston said the Ford Motor company's suggestions for continued price-wage controls would "destroy stabilization."

The Ford company earlier became the first big business to ask Congress to continue controls beyond the June 30 expiration date of the defense production act.

But the auto firm, at the same time, has suggested major changes in present control powers. These changes were attacked by Johnston last night in a letter to Senator Moody (D-Mich).

Ford had proposed automatic price increases for business to compensate for all labor and materials cost increases. Johnston's letter called that idea "built-in inflation."

Ford also objected to using profits as a standard for determining price ceilings.

Johnston said the effect of Ford's proposals would be "to cut the heart out of any fair and sound stabilization program."

At the watchdog committee's meat hearings, Paul C. Smith, vice president of Swift and company, told congressmen:

"By next week we will find that meat distribution is such that we will get the first demand for rationing."

Rep. Paul Brown (D-Ga), vice chairman of the watchdog committee, took sharp issue with the meat industry's stand.

"If we take off all price and wage controls," Brown warned, "the American dollar within 18 months will be worth less than 10 cents."

He urged the meat industry to "come across" and help control prices.

OPS sources also disclosed that their investigators are working on a number of suspected beef black market cases involving "some pretty big people" in the meat industry and some "pretty serious allegations" of ceiling evasion by packers and wholesalers.

These sources said the violations occurred before the recent controversial order rolling back beef prices 10 per cent, and that they believe the black market practices are continuing.

Also under investigation are "quite a few" cases of alleged illegal slaughtering, which will be turned over to the Justice department in a few days.

Trenton Case In Jury's Hands

Trenton, N. J. (AP)— Locked behind closed doors for more than 11 hours, a Mercer county court jury continued deliberations today in an effort to reach a verdict in the Trenton Six murder case.

Midnight passed without any indications from the jurors as to whether they were nearing a decision.

The six Negro defendants were convicted in 1948 of the robbery-slaying of 72-year-old William Horner but because of errors during the 44-day trial the New Jersey supreme court ordered a new trial.

Beef Supplies Dwindle Locally But Prices Too High To Create Heavy Demand; Pork Poultry Some Cheaper

"We'll just have to feed 'em more fruit and vegetables." This is the way one local meat dealer summed up his future business prospects yesterday.

With major packinghouses shut down or hobbling along for more than a week under OPS livestock pricing rules, he and fellow meat dealers are faced with what the Wall Street Journal terms the "beef paradox."

Beef supplies have been dwindling, replacement is slow, or in some cases nonexistent, but the hard-hit public isn't interested in buying anyway, dealers reported.

Even though beef stocks are low in most regional stores, the public hasn't started any new buyer's rush to stock up. Instead, the average housewife is more interested in the lower-priced meats.

Pork is becoming a popular meat diet now that it is selling at about 35 cents cheaper than beef.

But poultry prices are still more attractive to shoppers. A Stroudsburg merchant related he sold out of chickens last Saturday. He said prices have dropped again and "now we're almost giving them away."

Most meat dealers said their reserves are getting low or have already been depleted. "All I get are promises," one dealer said yesterday, "and I can't even depend upon that."

William G. Miller, who runs a market on Milford Rd., East Stroudsburg, said the demand for poultry has relieved the pressure from dwindling reserves. "But this weekend will put a hole in it, though," he added. "Orders just aren't coming in."

Miller said customers may find poultry hard to get in this locality in the near future. He pointed out chicken prices have been low in this area, but that distributors are being offered higher prices for their products in the New Jersey area.

THE GAME THEY'RE PLAYING isn't dealer's choice. These Brooklyn butchers would rather be cutting steaks than cards. But, as the beef shortage continues to spread from the western stockyards to the butcher shops, they suddenly find themselves with nothing to sell.

One grocer said his prices have dropped—below the OPS ceiling but the customer just isn't interested in the more fancy cuts of meat.

"Why should he be nowadays?" he asked. "He sees steak is plentiful, but the stuff is selling at a price the customer thinks is too high. He figures why should he pay a dollar or more per pound for beef when at the next counter he can get chicken at 47 cents a pound."

Earl D. Dennis, who operates a market on N. Sixth St., Stroudsburg, said he received only a percentage of his regular supply of beef this week, but added there was plenty of pork available.

A North Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, merchant said business has been very poor. People aren't rushing to buy as they did during other food shortage scares in the past.

"The customer is just about broke with these high prices," he declared.

Some dealers said their customers were not buying pork or poultry in greater quantities, while their competitors noted just the opposite.

But most dealers agreed that the customer, hanging on to an already battered pocketbook, wasn't buying any more than he actually needed.

Commission Reports On Progress

Washington (AP) — The atomic experts gained "much useful" information toward creation of a hydrogen bomb in the latest series of Eniwetok tests, they said yesterday.

And they let it be known that "larger, improved" standard atomic weapons of "several times" the power of the original bombs had been tried out.

The first official public report of what was done during tests run of last April and May at the mid-Pacific proving grounds was given at a joint news conference of the Atomic Energy commission and Defense department.

There officials of the two agencies and of the task force which carried out the tests told a little—but by no means all—of what went on in the secluded, guarded corner of the Pacific.

Out of the conference also came these facts:

First. So much progress is being made in bomb development that tests will be made more frequently than even the stepped-up program of the last six months at the Nevada and Eniwetok proving grounds.

Second. For the first time, jet planes, both bombers and fighters, were used in atomic weapons tests to see how they would stand the blast and heat of atomic explosion while in the air.

Three. All of the Eniwetok explosions were made with bombs mounted on steel towers; none of them was dropped by airplanes.

The officials took pains to caution against overemphasis on hydrogen bomb progress.

AEC Chairman Gordon Dean noted that in recent official statements there are references to "thermonuclear" and "hydrogen." Then Dean said:

"It seems that every time we use these words, reports are stimulated that we either have a hydrogen bomb, have tested a hydrogen bomb, or are on the verge of producing a hydrogen bomb. In fairness to the American people, I think I should call your attention to the fact that neither the AEC nor the Department of Defense has said any of these things."

Dr. Alvin C. Graves, director of the test division for the Los Alamos laboratories of the commission, siad:

"I may say that we have gained new information and understanding of the basic phenomena underlying thermonuclear reactions. Most of the experimental projects designed to give specific information in the field of thermonuclear research were so novel and complex that we would have been happy if only a few of them had worked.

"It is a remarkable tribute to the laboratories and other agencies that participated in this work that so much useful information was secured from these projects."

Lt. Gen. Elwood R. Quesada, commander of the joint task force which conducted "operation greenhouse" at Eniwetok, said the latest series of weapons tests was "successful in every respect."

Quesada disclosed that the tests of various atomic weapons were made against military equipment including tanks and planes.

Chinese Begin Mass Retreat Toward Kumsong

Tokyo, Thursday (AP) — Two powerful Allied columns paced by more than 100 tanks struck boldly across the central Korean plains yesterday, rolled into abandoned Pyonggang and rubbed out the Communists' once-vaunted "iron triangle."

A delayed field dispatch said the Chinese Reds began a mass withdrawal yesterday along the central front. It said the enemy appeared to be falling back on Kumsong, main town on the highway between Pyonggang and Wonsan, the east coast port rubbled by months of record naval bombardment.

The Allied columns, with doughboys riding the tanks, struck out yesterday morning from the two towns at the base of the triangle, Chorwon on the west and Kumhwa on the east. The tanks met virtually no opposition. They returned to the Chorwon-Kumhwa line after troops scouted high ground north of Pyonggang and found it deserted.

AP Correspondent Jim Becker said officers expressed amazement at the apparently complete withdrawal of the Chinese from the triangle, where once the Communists had massed ten of thousands of troops for powerful strikes deep into South Korea.

Some officers said the Chinese, badly hurt in their last two offensives, may have pulled back clear to the Wonsan line. That is about 100 miles north of parallel 38.

From U. S. Eighth Army headquarters, AP Correspondent Tom Bradshaw reported that loss of the triangle and its road network pushed the Reds' main supply routes back far to the north. Communist units operating on the eastern front now must be supplied either over a route that swings through besieged Wonsan, or over secondary mountain trails.

Intelligence officers who flew over the area north of the triangle said they saw few signs the Chinese planned to stand anywhere in the area.

"We didn't think they could hold the area, but we thought they would stage a more spirited delaying action," one officer said.

Bradshaw said it appeared that the Reds, if they launch any sizable offensive, must strike on the western end of the battle line. There roads to Red combat units still are fairly direct.

He said the Reds put up more of a fight Wednesday north and east of Kumhwa, which formed the anchor at the southeast corner of the triangle. Some of the fighting still was going on at the latest reports.

Enemy groups ranging from 100 to 400 men were seen withdrawing north above Hwachon, where Red resistance had been bitter for a week.

Dug-in Reds around Yanggu and Inje also fought bitterly in what Bradshaw called a series of "hunt and peck" actions. The Allies were doing all the hunting and most of the pecking.

Along the eastern front—from an area north of Inje to the east coast above Jansong — Reds in groups of from 10 to several hundred fought from hilltop positions to slow down the Allied sweep.

Allied planes mounted more than 1,000 sorties Wednesday for the second straight day. They claimed a heavy toll of the enemy in the Pyonggang area. Two Allied planes were lost to enemy ground fire.

The whims of the Korean rainy season were expected to govern any Allied advance north from Pyonggang.

"We must be in a firm position when the rains hit hard," one officer said.

Entry into the last of the three cities used by the Reds for their giant buildups on the Pyonggang plain was made at 1:45 p.m. (11:45 p.m., EDT, Tuesday).

Bomb Railroad In Manchuria, General Urges

Washington (AP)—Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer urged yesterday that the United States bomb the Russo-Chinese railroad in Manchuria even at the "calculated risk" of igniting world war three.

The railroad, jointly controlled by Russia and Red China, is used to funnel supplies to the Chinese Communist armies fighting in Korea.

American and Allied planes are now forbidden to bomb targets north of the Yalu river frontier between Korea and Manchuria.

Testifying for the third straight day at the Senate's MacArthur inquiry, Wedemeyer said bombing the Manchurian railroad "might result" in war with Russia, but he declared:

"It is a calculated risk that personally I would recommend we accept."

Wedemeyer also said he disagrees with earlier testimony by Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, chief of naval operations, that a U. S. naval blockade of Russian-controlled ports in Manchuria would be "an act of war."

Sherman had said he favors a United Nations blockade of Red China but opposes the United States undertaking it alone.

Wedemeyer has come out for a naval blockade of Red China and the shelling of Chinese coastal cities—by U. S. warships alone if necessary.

The three-star general, an expert on China, gave his views to the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees.

Senate Lifts Dole Secrecy

Wasington (AP)— The Senate voted yesterday to lift the 12-year ban against public inspection of state relief rolls.

By voice vote it added an amendment to the Labor-Federal Security fund bill which would permit states to open their relief lists to public scruting without losing Federal matching money for assistance payments.

It still must win approval in conference with the House and then again in both branches and by the President before becoming law.

Legislators in several states, particularly Indiana, Florida, Virginia and New York, have had bills pending on the subject for weeks following disclosures that many relief clients are chiselers.

Officials say the secrecy clause was written into the social security law in 1939 because of "political abuses" in connection with lists of old-age assistance recipients. The officials say the present law limits inspection of the rolls to those connected with administration of the act.

Reject Proposal

Washington (AP)—The Senate rejected yesterday, 36 to 35, a proposal to slash the annual and sick leave of Federal civil service workers.

Storm Causes Multi-Million Dollar Loss

Richmond, Va., (AP)—A tornado cut across this city of 230,000 late yesterday, toppling trees, tearing off roof tops and leaving an estimated $2,000,000 to $4,000,000 damage.

No fatalities were reported, but half a dozen persons were hospitalized with serious injuries.

The damage estimate was made by Robert O. Glover, chairman of the local Red Cross Disaster committee.

The twister moved in from the southwest at about 4:10 p. m., spinning across much of the city's middle and heading out across the northeast.

In its wake it left torn down power lines, sheared off roofs, and trees and branches littering streets and yards.

Fires broke out in some sections of the city and all off-duty firemen and policemen were quickly summoned back on the job.

Police designated part of the west end section as disaster area. Teams of Red Cross workers were dispatched to the area.

The Weather bureau said it was the first tornado to hit the city in at least 10 years—but some observers believed it might be the first to ever strike Richmond.

Committee Sends Tax Measure To Floor Of House

Washington (AP) — The House Ways and Means committee in a series of final votes yesterday completed action on a bill to increase taxes by $7,300,000,000 to $7,500,000,000 a year.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) said the committee will give the legislation a final inspection and introduce it in the House today, and hopes to pass it next week. For all practical purposes, he said, the bill was finished yesterday, although possible minor changes cannot be ruled out.

While staff experts had not worked out firm revenue estimates, the measure as it stands is designed to hit individual income taxpayers for about $2,800,000,000 more, and corporations for a like amount. The balance of the added revenue would be obtained from higher excise taxes, a new tax on gambling, a new system of withholding at the source on dividends and interest, and several miscellaneous changes.

Heavy Downpour

Greensburg, (AP) — Torrential storms battered Westmoreland county yesterday, drowning a child and causing property damage estimated at close to $1,000,000.

Language Student Tests Skill On Wrong Prisoner

With the U. S. Second Division, (AP)—For weeks now Cpl. John E. Diecchio has been studying the Chinese language.

He picked up words from Chinese Communist prisoners at the prisoner of war enclosure. At last he figured he had assembled enough words to launch an interrogation in Chinese.

"I beg your pardon," the first prisoner he questioned replied in English. "What did you say?"

The Erie, Pa., soldier had picked on a Chinese prisoner born in the Philippines, where they speak about as much English as they do in Erie.

Allocations May Extend To All Goods

Washington (AP) — The government announced yesterday that the whole manufacturing economy—consumer goods as well as military and defense-supporting industries—may be brought under compulsory allocation of metals on October 1.

Manly Fleischmann, head of NPA, said the system would be extended if makers of consumer items such as radios and refrigerators find themselves unable to get supplies of steel, aluminum and copper.

Fleischmann said consumer industries soon will be invited to file requests for basic metals to be used in the last quarter of the year.

If consumer industries are brought into the metals allocation plan it will be a mixed blessing for them. They will be assured a guaranteed supply of metal, but it may be less than they want, and they will be prohibited from shopping around for more.

NPA said that, as of July 1, more than 350 types of civilian products, including most industrial items, will get government allocations of copper, steel and aluminum.

Fleischmann estimated about 10 per cent of American steel production in the third quarter will be available for consumer goods. This compares with about 15 per cent in pre-Korea months.

Food Prices Drop

Washington (AP)—Retail food prices dropped a tiny notch during the last two weeks of May after hiting an all-time peak in the first two weeks, the Bureau of Labor statistics estimated yesterday.

Mac Accuses Policy Makers Of Appeasement In Korea

Austin, Tex., (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur yesterday bitterly accused U. S. policy makers of appeasement in Korea and of "moral weakness" by talking of a peace settlement.

He told an audience of some 20,000 Texans that America's first line of defense is the Yalu river at the Manchurian border and not the Elbe river in Europe.

He charged U. S. foreign policy appears to be influenced from abroad and by fear of what other nations might think or do.

In a speech bristling with defiance of Truman administration war policies, the five-star general called for stronger measures against the enemy in Korea to end the war "rapidly and decisively."

Again MacArthur challenged the administration claim that to spread the war against China might draw Russia into the conflict and touch off world war three.

MacArthur advocates bombing Red China, blockading the Red-held coast, and using Chinese Nationalist troops as the best way to bring a quick end to the conflict. His public statements on these views finally led to his ouster by President Truman.

But the administration and the Joint Chiefs of Staff contend this program carries no guarantee of victory and the war should be limited to Korea as the best road to peace. MacArthur said "there is no slightest doubt in my mind" but that Russia has been engaging in the "greatest bulldozing diplomacy history has ever recorded."

He contended the Soviets have succeeded not because of military strength "but in the moral weakness of the free world."

The accusation of appeasement was a theme that ran throughout the general's hard-hitting speech. On this subject he said:

"In Korea today, we have reached that degree of moral trepidation that we pay tribute in the blood of our sons to the doubtful belief that the hand of a blistering potential enemy may in some way be thus stayed.

"Munich, and many other historical examples have taught us that diplomatic appeasement but sows the seeds of future conflict. Yet, oblivious to these bloody lessons, we now practice a new and yet more dangerous form of appeasement — appeasement on the battlefield where-under we soften our blows, withhold our power, and surrender military advantages, in apparent hope that in some nebulous way by so doing a potential enemy will be coerced to desist from attacking us."

MacArthur said "Those responsible for the condition of our national defense' plead this country is not prepared to fight. But he declared "I cannot accept such an estimate." He added this country has the inherent strength to defeat any enemy who attacks."

Garment Strike Called Off By 65,000 Workers

New York (AP) — The first big work stoppage in the East's huge garment industry in a quarter of a century was called off late yesterday.

Sixty-five thousand makers of women's and children's coats and suits were ordered to return to work today after two days of idleness.

The back-to-work order came after negotiations between the cloak joint board of the AFL International ladies garment workers union and four employer groups, representing some 2,000 shops in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Pennsylvania.

Of the 65,000 workers involved, about 45,000 work in the vast garment center in mid-Manhattan.

Ban On Joining Service Of Own Choice Suspended

Washington (AP)—The Defense department yesterday acted to speed the flow of volunteers into the nation's fighting forces.

The department announced it is temporarily lifting the ban preventing men from joining the service of their choice after they have taken or been notified to take pre-induction physical examinations.

The suspension will be in effect for one month beginning June 15.

Assistant defense secretary Anna M. Rosenberg said about 300,000 men will be affected.

Mrs. Rosenberg confirmed, in a statement, what the services have been saying unofficially about their difficulties in getting volunteers, particularly during the last two months.

The Air Force recently disclosed it could not meet its 850,000 goal originally scheduled for June 30.

Dublin, Ireland, (AP)—Eamon De Valera, the 68-year-old Brooklyn-born rebel once sentenced to death, rode back into power last night as the new prime minister of Ireland.

The Dail (lower house of Parliament) elected him prime minister by a vote of 74 to 69. Three members abstained and the speaker of the 147-member body has no vote.

Five of the 14 independents joined the 69 deputies of De Valera's Fianna Fail (soldiers of destiny) party in putting him over after John A. Costeluo's coalition was defeated 74 to 72.

In addition to his wife and his parents, he is survived by two sons, William and Carl A. Nelson, both of Minisink Hills, and five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Saturday at the Lanterman funeral home, E. Stroudsburg. Friends may pay respects at the funeral home from 7 to 9 p. m. Friday.

SSA Moves Local Office

Beginning today the representative of the Easton office of the Social Security administration will hold office hours in the basement of the Stroudsburg borough hall rather than in the Postoffice building. All callers are requested to use the Seventh St. entrance to the hall.

The number of people using the facilities of this contact station have made necessary an extension of the time during which the Social Security representative will be on duty in Stroudsburg.

Therefore, the representative will start office hours at 10:30 a.m., rather than at 1 p.m. starting today, and will remain on duty until all callers have been served.

Stiff Blow

Socialized medicine has just taken a nasty solar plexus slap.

Labor traditionally has been one of the major backers of the scheme. But Dave Beck of Seattle, executive vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (AFL) has told the American Medical Association in Atlantic City that socialized medicine won't work.

Last winter another major labor leader, William L. Hutcheson,, president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, condemned the program which has figured largely in plans of the Truman administrations and the previous ones.

Free choice of doctors, surgeons and dentists still appeals strongly to the American public. These are all possible in the voluntary health insurance plans which Dave Beck says should be given precedence. A lot of tacit approval of socialized medicine has come from those who haven't taken the time to familiarize themselves fully with all its implications.

Those RFC Letters

Senator Fulbright's committee investigating the Reconstruction Finance Corp. has voted unanimously not to make public any of the 813 letters to that Government lending agency from members of Congress.

President Truman obtained these letters from RFC files last February after the committee named a number of his appointees in a report charging that "influence and favoritism" had affected the agency's policies. Their writers included 67 senators and 154 representatives.

"Undoubtedly," the committee says, there have been instances of pressure by members of Congress on behalf of loan applicants.

But it concludes that the letters, "taken by themselves," reveal no improprieties and would prove nothing unless they were considered together with all the other factors involved in the negotiation of loans.

And it would be "utterly fantastic," Senator Fulbright asserts, for the committee to try to trace all the factors in each of 813 letters.

Certainly that would be a long and difficult task, and the committee's decision not to undertake it is understandable. The public, which has been given much reason for confidence in the courage and integrity of the committee's members, probably will not quarrel with that decision.

But the public can only hope that the task, if undertaken, would not have revealed other cases like that of Senator Murray of Montana, who could see nothing wrong in asking the RFC to grant a loan which enabled his own lawyer son to earn a large fee.

However, that may be, the "letters-from-Congress" episode will have served a useful purpose if senators and representatives accept it as a warning not to put improper pressure on the RFC.

And W. Stuart Symington, the new administrator of that agency, is continuing to provide encouraging evidence of alert determination to clean it up and keep it straight.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Some months ago, a collection of wealthy ornithologists in New Jersey triumphantly announced that they had tracked down the nesting grounds of a very elusive bird named the bristle-thighed curlew. This name, for some reason caused readers to begin inventing ridiculous species of non-existent birds, the craziest of which were duly listed in Tide, the advertisers' magazine. Examples: the tufted dowager, red-eyed crosspatch, double-breasted seersucker, electric crane, weekend bat, vester interest, bleary-eyed hangover, and extra-maritallark.

A native of the Ozarks was asked by a revenue agent, "Seen your grandpappy lately?" The native pointed with his corncob pipe to an indistinct object at the far end of his tomato patch and said, "See that figger over thar? It's either a tree stump or grandpappy. Keep your eyes on it. If it moves it's a tree stump."

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood — Getting acquaint- with eligible young men is a problem even for movie stars. Patricia Neal, who has caused at least one fan-magazine writer to express concern that she might be headed for spinsterhood, told me;

"When I first came out to Hollywood"—from Broadway, three and a half years ago—"I had more than sufficient dates. I was going out constantly. But once you've gone through the list, well, that's it."

These dates included actors, writers, agents, and directors — "all nice fellows"—but no romantic spark struck fire.

"I'd like to know some people outside the profession," the tall southerner reflected, "but unfortunately you never meet any one outside the profession. There must be some nice eligible doctors or architects around!"

Pat, currently teamed professionally with a man from another world (Michael Rennie) in "The Day the Earth Stood Still," recalled her most amusing Hollywood date. The guy, a well-known actor, suggested that they engage in what he called "a publicity romance." Miss Neal said no . . .

Far up Bronson Canyon in Hollywood, the modern apartment houses and homes thin out, and the pavement ends. A sharp turn to the right on the dirt road, and you're on historic Hollywood ground.

There movies have been filmed since 1911. There, just two and a half miles from Hollywood and Vine, picture companies still get out into the rugged wilds. I found Burt Lancaster and his fellow Foreign Legionnaires in "Ten Tall Men" holed up in a jagged cave, preparing to fend off the enemy.

These Days -- By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

The China Lobby

Senator Brien McMahon raised the issue of "the China lobby" which is a vague and undefined term for American citizens who favor the cause of Nationalist China. Senator McMahon desires that "the China lobby" be investigated, which is not a bad idea.

But we should have an investigation of the public relations activities of all foreign governments in the United States. We might begin with the two largest, Soviet Russia and Great Britain, to find out precisely what they have done and how much they have expended in this country during the past 20 years.

It would be interesting to know how much was spent out of lend-lease, UNRRA and ECA—that is, American money spent by aliens to influence American public opinion. Nationalist China's share would indeed be small, because that country never had much money. Senator Styles Bridges, in discussing this, asked:

"Now, there are many other friendly governments in the world today, with which we have association, who are interested in United States aid, United States help in one form or another, such as Great Britain, such as France, such as the Republic of India, such as Greece, such as Sweden, such as Finland, such as Denmark, such as Colombia, and so on.

"If they are over here attempting to persuade or influence American policy, either for the purpose of getting aid in any form, whether it be in loans, grants, or otherwise, or influence legislation, directly or indirectly, they are lobbyists and they should be investigated, should they not?"

What is generally meant by "the China lobby" is Americans who have spent their own time and money to fight the Communist conquest of China. I am sure that some agencies of the Nationalist government have hired Americans for various purposes. These should be registered as foreign agents according to the law.

But these are not what is meant by "the China lobby". The term always is used against such persons as Alfred Kohlberg, a reputable merchant, who has spent of his own fortune to fight Communism. Kohlberg, I am sure, would welcome investigation.

And Kohlberg is not alone. There are newspapermen, merchants and missionaries who have devoted themselves to fighting Communism not only in China but here at home. Because these are volunteers, receiving no subsidies from Nationalist China, they have functioned without consulting any Chinese. Most of them feel that Communism in China is an American issue.

Some of them are not at all concerned about Chiang Kai-Shek or T. V. Soong or any other Chinese. They feel that it is bad for the United States for Soviet Russia to own China. Some insist that at this historic moment, there is no alternate for Chiang Kai-shek. Others hold the view that that is not as important as that Russia should not dominate China under any circumstances.

The principal conflict among so-called China experts—apart from American Communists and fellow-travellers—is on the subject of corruption and reform. Some feel that nothing can be done about China until corruption ends and reform is achieved. Others, like myself, take two views on this subject:

1. That what we call corruption in China is a normal, historic process of compensation for public service. It is not an efficient system, but it existed at one time or another in various forms (like tax farming) throughout the world.

2. That corruption is not as unusual as some like to indicate, and while it cannot be condoned, it apparently cannot be readily obliterated. Note the Kefauver and Fulbright reports, both of which only scratched the surface in this country.

This difference of view does not affect such a matter as the recent effort of certain Chinese in this country to corner the soyabean market. Of this, all friends of China were ashamed. As the story went, this operation, via Hongkong, was essentially designed to avoid American income tax payments, which seems to be a habit with rich refugees in this country. Certainly, the Department of Agriculture knows all about it and about the American lawyers who advised how to do such things. There is no reason why all of this should not be made public, unless the lawyers are too important politically to be involved in sordid business.

But none of this has anything to do with what Senator McMahon calls "the China lobby."

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington — The hatchet job on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's administration of the Japanese homeland is gaining momentum. And a number of the same characters who whittled away at Chiang Kai-shek and China's freedom can be seen crawling out of this woodwork.

I doubt if anybody fighting in the Pacific during World War Two thought they were killing Japs so the USA could turn over that country to Socialists or Communists. Yet, Gen. MacArthur's critics charge him with failing to promote government control of Japanese industry and the Japanese people.

"Failure in Japan," a recent book by Robert B. Textor, a civilian who spent two years in Tokyo working on the government payroll as a civil information and education officer, harps on the idea that nationalization of Japanese industry is the only way to handle that country's economy. He also balks at American investment in Japan, but has nothing to say about British socialist investments in China.

Textor peddles State department gospel in his writings, which reduces his views to relative unimportance, except for one thing. He acquired a friend during his formative days when he was learning how to think about the Far East. His friend is none other than Owen Lattimore, the Baltimore Bugle.

Just because Secretary of State Dean Acheson and other officials of that department have no memory now of ever having seen or heard of Lattimore when the Baltimore Bugle was running in and out of the department, doesn't mean that Lattimore is a wraith. He is as un-ghostly as any of the other State department advisers who hate Chiang Kai-shek for trying to save China from the Communists.

Gen. MacArthur and his able aide, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, put together a new constitution for the Japanese when they had finished licking that country in the war. Constitutional lawyers say it is a model of Democratic processes and most Japanese leaders agree. In addition, deliberations are underway to close a deal on a Japanese peace treaty which will give that country a chance to start over again as a friend of this country.

Naturally we can't have the Japs budding up to the Russians if we want to hang onto anything we have left in the Pacific. Japan is a rugged industrial nation when it is producing at full clip, which is the way we want it now that the Russians and Chinese Reds have started a war in Korea.

The Baltimore Bugle, however, dashed off another literary gem for Textor's book in the form of a foreward. To enjoy its full flavor you have to watch the commas and periods. The Bugle always has a kicker in his well placed paragraphs and it's no fun reading him unless you know what to watch for.

On this go-around Lattimore gets a mite testy because he thinks the U. S. is trying to "impose" on Japan a policy of hostility to Red China and Russia. He thinks we should, of course, support "full freedom and independence for Japan," but should refrain from pointing out to the Japanese that they'll only get their fingers burnt if they play around with Russia.

The fact that the Japanese only have to look across a few miles of water to get an idea of what the Communists are doing in Korea leaves the Baltimore Bugle untroubled. He seems to think that if left alone the Japanese will naturally butter up to Red China and Russia.

I can't be positive about whether Textor and Lattimore are expressing official administration policy for Japan. Both of them work for the government. However, and what with the way Mr. Truman is firing generals and navy lieutenants who disagree with him, the best guess is that the two authors have gotten a green light for their writings.

Everybody from Acheson on down, including Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall, will deny that the Baltimore Bugle is on any official administration payroll. Take a look at this, however.

The operations research office of the Department of the Army, which handles super-secret research and weapons evaluation work, decided last year to turn over its functions to Johns Hopkins University. It signed a contract with the Johns Hopkins School of International Studies, of all things, and now funnels its secret data to that institution. Guess who runs the School of International Studies? You couldn't guess wrong. It's the Baltimore Bugle, Mr. Lattimore.

Looking at Life

By Erich Brandeis

Brandeis

One of the most difficult things for a man is to cope with a woman's logic, particularly when she is right.

The New York newspapers — and others as well—have been full of all sorts of juvenile troubles.

Gang fights, muggings, drunken brawls, dope addiction and many other youthful derelictions.

It IS very perturbing. But whenever you investigate those affairs you usually find—as I have stated before—that the delinquency is NOT due to the kids but to the parents. Often the youngsters have no parental guidance at all. They come out of institutions or broken homes. Or they may have miserable backgrounds and surroundings.

It's the old question all over again "What comes first, the hen or the egg?"

Many of these boys and girls are sent to prisons or reformatories, only to get postgraduate courses in CRIME and to become real, expert criminals when they get out.

This morning my wife remarked that if she had her way, she would send all the boys who are sentenced to jail or reform school to Korea to fight.

"Most of them are simply frustrated," she thinks. "Give them an INCENTIVE and a good cause and they'll soon get over what we call 'juvenile delinquency.'"

Then she recalled the hullabalooo made during the last war when someone suggested that thousands of the men confined in prisons should be put in the Army and Navy and made to serve their country.

"What?" exclaimed a lot of amateur psychologists and social experts, "Would you let murderers and thieves mingle with our boys and thus degrade the very cause for which we are fighting?"

So far I had just listened to my wife. We were at breakfast. The toast was crisping in the toaster. The delicious aroma of fresh-made coffee was flattering my nostrils. The fried eggs with their curly strips of bacon were not inducive to logic or argument.

But then she asked me a direct question, the question that caused the first paragraph of this column.

"Don't you think," she asked, "that we live in a very peculiar civilization when the law murders a man who has murdered someone else, but we send our boys out to commit wholesale murder in a war? We call one murder a crime, the other heroism."

And then, with an inflection of finality:

"What do you think of THAT?"

There is one fortunate feature about a woman's logic.

When she asks a question on a matter about which she has made up her mind, she does not expect an answer.

Her own question IS the answer.

So, being a husband of many years' standing, I did not answer but said only:

"Your coffee is delicious this morning, dear. Could I have another cup?"

But I have been thinking about her observation ever since.

DON'T we live in a peculiar civilization when men still murder one another—either criminally or legally?

What do YOU think of that?

Horse College Grad Tells All

Shudda Haddim, well-known horse follower, is disturbed over prosecution proceedings against the operator of a college professing to instruct players in the art of beating the races. The tuition fee was $17 for a regular course, with a post-graduate course for another $15, and it is alleged that it was a racket which took millions from the public. It develops that Shudda Haddim is an alumnus. He holds four degrees, PHD (Professional Horse Dopester), DW (Doctor of Whispering), DDL (Daily Double Loser) and DWG (Doctor of Wrong Guessers).

He was high-stand man in his class of 97 students. (Not exactly, perhaps, as the other 96 students claimed a photo finish.) "To ban a college like this is to hurt the morale of horse players," he argued. "To be happy, a turf addict has got to be kept feeling that he can ultimately succeed despite a life of failure. I have a constitutional right to be wrong and to be encouraged in it. If good old Sure Thing University can help me along this line it renders a fine service."

Shudda Haddim then showed an honorary degree conferred upon him by his college only a week ago. It reads:

"Haddim, Shudda; unemployed pantryman, turf enthusiast, student of figures and paddock philosopher: Mr. Haddim is outstanding as an American who takes severe punishment over long periods, comes back for more and presents a stirring example of perseverance in the face of all obstacles. Born of poor parents and raised in humble circumstances, his fight against any change in his general position has been vigorous. At an early age he became interested in the thoroughbred race horse, and, as time went on, he centered that interest not in the hale and hearty animal, free from afflictions, but in the old, the crippled and the unfit steed.

"In fact all Shudda Haddim needed to become its champion and supporter was to know that a horse was a wreck. Over the years he has stood firmly for horses suffering from spavins, popped osselets, bowed tendons, weak knees, split hooves and a bad wind. Mr. Haddim began life on a shoestring. He doubled it through 20 years of endeavor and is now within sight of a pair of shoes.

"Mr. Haddim is a noted linguist. He speaks Belmontese, Jamaican, Santa Anitish, Laurelese, Tropicalparkish, Suffolkese and all the dialects of the various Bowie tribes. There is no tongue in which he cannot ask, 'Whaddya hear?' He has also been a leader in experiments to determine how long a horse player can go without eating and is a charter member of the League to Make Wives Take in Washing. His alma mater is proud to confer upon him the degree of Doctor of Persistence, Doctor of Bad Guesses and Doctor of Gullibility. And what's good in the fifth?"

"I could of had another degree," declared Shudda Haddim today, "but it was a late scratch!"

Tuberculosis Society To Re-X-Ray Chests Of 416 Persons

342 Suspects To Undergo New Exams

Monroe County Tuberculosis society last night approved a plan to re-X-ray chests of 416 out of some 7,911 persons who were given free X-rays a few weeks ago because 342 are tuberculosis suspects and another 74 films proved to be unsatisfactory because of techinical reasons.

An additional 414 chest X-ray films showed pathological findings other than tuberculosis, all of which will be reported to the family physician of the individual involved, just as the tubercular suspects and those without any pathological findings are reported to the family physician.

Since the TB society is concerned only with halting spread and the prevention of tuberculosis, the society will finance re-X-ray of only the 342 cases which are suspected of tuberculosis and the 74 films which are unsatisfactory for technical reasons.

This is known as the "follow-up" program which the society pledged it would do when it promoted and cooperated with the mass X-ray of citizens of the county 18 years old and up a few weeks ago.

That program was held here through the cooperative sponsorship of Monroe County Medical Society and the Pennsylvania Department of Health.

The re-X-ray program which the society will carry out will involve usage of General hospital facilities and the facilities of various physicians who have the equipment and are able to cooperate with the re-X-ray plan.

Larger films will be used to provide large pictures for more positive study of patholigical suspects.

Findings other than tuberculosis suspects, will be handled by the individual's physician and may ential re-X-ray to bring about positive diagnosis of the other pathological findings found in the chest X-rays just read and reported by cooperating physicians of the Monroe County Medical society.

Mrs. Estelle Fleming, executive secretary of the society, said the record achieved in mass X-ray's here was oustanding. An average of 700 persons were X-rayed during the 11 days of the campaign. Interest remains high among everyone X-rayed, she reported.

Carl T. Secor, supervising principal of East Stroudsburg schools, was reelected president of the TB society.

Mr. Secor is now starting his second term. His first produced a number of eventful contributions to general public health and in services to the people of the county. Not the least of these was the mass X-ray project.

Other officers reelected were Kurt Wismer, vice president; Mrs. Gordon Savage, secretary and Morris Evans, treasurer. Members of the board elected last night included Mrs. W. R. Levering, Arthur Ifft, Mrs. Nelson Beers, Dr. Robert Brown, Dr. Paul S. Shiffer, Mrs. Harold S. Pond, Arthur Slee and M. F. Weiss.

Officers and directors were nominated by a committee consisting of Arthur Slee, Attorney Charles R. Bensinger and H. G. Heller.

Brannan Thinks Beef Production To Be Maintained

Washington (AP) —Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said yesterday farmers should be able to maintain—if not increase— beef production under price controls unless there is a drastic increase in their costs.

A short feed grain crop, with consequent higher feed prices, could change the situation, he said. However, feed production is progressing very satisfactorily, he added.

Brannan gave this view in a talk on the nation's food situation before a group of Food Trade association officials and the Washington Trade Executives association.

The secretary said he did not believe the financial incentive to produce beef cattle had been "seriously" affected by a government price rollback order, now under sharp attack by cattlemen and some farm leaders in Congress.

Attorney Alan Gray paid $15 each for Coburn, writers Morrie Ryskind, 55, and Paul Yawitz, 50, and producers Paul W. Malvern, 48, and Howard Malvern, 49.

The boys were caught early Sunday morning in the Players' club.

Jets Believed In Slovakia

Frankfurt, Germany (AP)—American authorities looked last night to Czechoslovakia for answers to the riddle of what happened to two U. S. jet fighter planes which vanished Friday.

One of the pilots was an American, Lt. Luther G. Rohland, and the other a Norwegian trainee, Lt. Bjoern Johansen.

Advices from Prague said the U. S. embassy there took up with the Czechoslovak Foreign ministry Sunday persistent rumors the planes—F-84 Thunderjets on a training flight from their Bavarian base—had landed undamaged at the Kbley airfield east of Prague and that the pilots, uninjured, were taken into custody.

"The next day, Monday, we received an acknowledgment from the Czechoslovak government saying competent Czech authorities had been requested to investigate," an embassy spokesman was quoted.

It was learned authoritatively here that the jets last reported from Fulda, near the U. S.-Soviet zone border. One plane was having radio trouble.

Poor Schools Face Loss Of Special Aid

Harrisburg (AP)—Most destitute school districts in Pennsylvania would be cut off from further State aid under a proposed new law.

A bill now before the House would prohibit special State grants to financially distressed school districts who are not levying an adequate tax rate.

The Department of Public Instruction said such a restriction would eliminate most hard-hit school districts from further State financial help.

Last year the State paid out some $1,500,000 to about 90 distessed school districts. Scores of other aid requests were tabled because of lack of funds. These grants were in addition to regular State school subsidies.

The new proposal to limit special grants was tacked on as an amendment to the 1951-53 State appropriation bill for distressed school districts. It was added by the House Appropriations committee in scaling down the original $1,000,000 allocation to $500,000. The Department of Public Instruction originally had asked for $1,500,000 for such aid the next two years.

The new amendment specifically prohibits any destitute school district from receiving State aid unless the State Tax Equalization board is satisfied the district's real estate assessment program is on a "proper" basis.

John N. O'Neill, board chairman, said that experience has shown that very few destitute school districts now have proper real estate valuations. In nearly every case, he said, assessed valuations within the district are far below actual market valuations.

Death Halts Celebration

Canberra, Australia (AP)—Joseph B. Chifley, 65, the Labor party's leader and former prime minister, died of a heart attack last night in the midst of Australia's celebration of her 50th anniversary as a commonwealth.

All jubilee celebrations for the remainder of the week were cancelled.

His collapse in his hotel room broke up a state bill and threw gloom over the jubilee proceedings. At the moment of his collapse, Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies was welcoming, in the House of Representatives, foreign guests representing their governments at the jubilee.

Menzies announced Chifley's death at the King's hall, where the jubilee ball was in progress. He said Chifley had hastened his own end "by his devotion to his own land and, indeed, to the people of the world."

Chifley became Australia's 16th prime minister in July 1945, just as the curtain was about to come down on World War Two in the Pacific, and held the office until his Labor government was ousted in the general election of December, 1949.

Most Persistent Lobbyist Taken Home By Relatives

Harrisburg, (AP)—Mrs. Olga Schwartz—the Legislature's most persistent lobbyist—will be absent when the Legislature reconvenes the 1951 session Monday.

Relatives of the 76-year-old woman took her home to Elmhurst, Lackawanna county, late Tuesday. A State policeman escorted her from the Capitol building to a waiting automobile.

The woman, who has walked with the aid of a crutch in recent years, has been lobbying for years for a $50,000 claim for the death of her husband in an industrial accident in 1909.

The 1943 Legislature appropriated $10,000 to settle her claim but she refused to accept the money, claiming it was not "a just settlement." The money was finally turned over to a Scranton bank, named as her guardian.

Mrs. Schwartz' husband was killed on a construction job. Both the contractor and the insurance company subsequently failed before any compensation was paid. The State entered the case when the insurance department was named receiver for the insurance firm.

Self-Service Market Gets Drug License

Harrisburg (AP)—A State Justice department opinion prompted the issuance of a disputed pharmacy license, a State official disclosed yesterday.

Dorr E. Crosley, director of the State Bureau of Professional Licensing, made the disclosure in answer to a charge that the license was issued over objections of the State Board of Pharmacy.

Fred Costenbader, of Palmerton, board chairman, charged Tuesday that the license was issued to the Baltimore self-service market in Philadelphia "over the heads" of board members.

In Philadelphia, a spokesman for the Baltimore market commented: "The drug department at this market is run as a concession, by two registered pharmacists. So far as the management has been able to determine this license was obtained in a regular, legal way."

Costenbader said that the board opposed issuance of pharmacy licenses for self-service stores on the theory that the dispensing of drugs is a profession that should not be operated on a self-service basis.

However Crosley said the Justice department ruled in an opinion that the State had no right under present law to forbid licenses to self-service store pharmacies providing they met all other requirements.

Crosley quoted Costenbader as saying when informed of the opinion that "I guess nothing more can be done about this."

Whereupon, Crosley said, a license was granted to the market. He said a prior inspection had shown that the store had met all other legal requirements demanded under the State pharmacy licensing law.

Red Fire Trucks, Red Faces

Gettysburg (AP)—The faces of Gettysburg's volunteer firemen were the color of their trucks yesterday—all because of the trucks.

A group of volunteers were touring Adams county Tuesday night collecting funds to aid the company's operations. A short circuit in the truck's wiring started a small blaze while on the road.

The truck was stripped of fire-fighting equipment because the men were preparing to install a high-pressure booster line. They called Gettysburg for help and a second truck arrived and put out the blaze.

But in doing so the second truck's battery went dead and both trucks had to be towed back to the company's quarters.

Jury Indicts Local Trio In Thefts

A Northampton county grand jury has indicted Charles S. Sansenbach, 20, of Washington St., East Stroudsburg, and two juveniles from the Stroudsburg area on charges of burglary and larceny, it was learned here yesterday.

The Northampton indictments are the result of two service station robberies at Portland and Mount Bethel last March.

The three defendants, who were later arrested in connection with an auto theft and service station burglary in East Stroudsburg, were sentenced in Monroe county court several months ago. All three are now serving indeterminate terms at the Camp Hill Industrial school.

Police said the three admitted complicity in the Portland and Mount Bethel incidents and also a Columbia, N. J., filling station robbery committed during the same period. Warren County, N. J., authorities have also indicated intention to lodge detainers against the ones implicated in the Columbia theft.

Anthony J. Boza, Andreas RD 1, truck driver, was indicted by the Easton grand jury on an involuntary manslaughter charge arising out of the death of Ray Borger, 26-year-old Kunkletown truck driver, last February 1.

Borger died of injuries and burns received when he was trapped in the cab of his burning truck after it had been struck by a transport operated by Boza on Route 45 near Petersville.

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). 966 Persons Referred For Rehabilitation

Nearly one thousand handicapped Commonwealth residents, including a large number from the Stroudsburgs area, were referred to the Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation for preparation for gainful employment during April.

Tom E. Williams, manager of the Northeastern district of the State Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation said 131 cases were referred from this area, which includes Bradford, Columbia, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Monroe, Pike, Sullivan, Susquehanna, Wayne, Montour and Wyoming counties.

Mark M. Walter, bureau director disclosed that 966 handicapped persons were reported to the bureau by 34 different sources, including schools, hospitals, physicians, insurance companies, American Red Cross, public and private agencies, employers, labor unions, Pennsylvania State Employment service, and as a result of newspaper and radio publicity concerning the bureau's program.

One of the most difficult problems is to reach the handicapped persons as early as possible after a mishap through which they might have received an injury that will effect their subsequent gainful employment.

All Pennsylvania citizens 16 years of age or over, are eligible for vocational rehabilitation provided they can be retained for a job which will make them self-supporting. It is a highly individual service tailored to meet the needs of each disabled man and woman.

Tom E. Williams said that handicapped persons in the Stroudsburgs district should be referred to the Wilkes-Barre office, 700 Miners National Bank building.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

What a wonderful day for sewing club, thought I, just the dreary sort of afternoon when good food and bright conversation is what you need.

Well, the food was wonderful, all right, but the conversation—Somehow got started on the ills of the world, and went, from bad to worse.

Started out simply enough with the dangers which teen-age drivers playing "chicken" are surely bound for and went from there to the drug racket among children in the cities, and from there to cancer, insanity, and other cheerful subjects.

Finally, somebody said that we'd talked about everything but leprosy—and sure enough we started talking about recent books about leprosy. Wonder we didn't all come home with symptoms of something or other.

What it was, we did come home with the thought that after all, if all we had to worry about was a rainy day, we were fortunate. Nothing like talking about people's troubles to make your own seem light as a feather.

Saylorsburg Student Famed For Climbing Extinct Volcano

Mexico City, (Special to The Record)—Lawrence Englehart, of Saylorsburg, is in Mexico City where he is enrolled in the graduate school of Mexico City College.

Founded ten years ago, the college has always taken an active and enthusiastic interest in plans designed to further and strengthen understanding throughout the Western hemisphere, and is a vital force in extending and furthering the U. S. good neighbor policy.

Most of the students become proficient in Spanish and learn much of the customs of the country by living in Mexican homes suggested by the college housing service.

Englehart, a graduate of Curtis High in New York, received his B. A. degree in Spanish at Mexico City College. During the last war he served one year and a half in Europe as an anti-aircraft observer. He has led youth hostel groups to Mexico and to various European countries including France and Switzerland. He has also ascended close to the erupting volcano, Paracutin.

This summer Englehart plans to lead another youth hostel trip to Spain, Portugal, Southern France, Italy and North Africa.

U. S. Loan Eases India Food Crisis

New Delhi, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru's government last night authorized restoration of the normal grain ration as a result of the United States' "generous gesture" in granting India a loan for purchase of 2,000,000 tons of grain.

Life of Riley

Roseto's victory over Pocono A. C. stamps the charges of Manager Hal Nerino as the team to beat in the Blue Mountain league, with East Bangor rating in the same category. The Pocono A. C. club that was supposed to run away with the circuit, according to popular opinion, at the beginning of the campaign, has found it next to impossible to take the measure of Roseto and East Bangor thus far this season.

Manager John Schoonover's club has won one of two games with East Bangor, but has dropped both outings to Roseto. West Bangor has crept into the title picture and it now appears as if the race has settled down to a four-team affair, with Pocono A. C. and West Bangor facing a terrific fight if they are to cop the laurels. The race is far from over but it's going to take some steady baseball, with the cooperation of all hands, before any one of the clubs can claim the bunting.

The play of the rival shortstops on Tuesday at Gordon Giffels field was as good as these two eyes have been in many a day. Dick Pritchard for Roseto and Jim Werkheiser for Pocono A. C. saved their respective hurlers on several occasions with some dazzling play in the short field. Bob Muhr's one-hit pitching may have been more important to him than even he realizes. If that motion of the southpaw's to first base is legal, it is one of the best ever witnessed at the W. Main St. park

Word making the round of the grapevine at the present time reveals that Muhr had an opportunity to join the DeLand club of the Florida State league, under the guidance of Manager Frank Radler. However, Muhr turned down the offer to remain at home in Bethlehem. Speaking of Radler brings to mind the fact that the former manager of the Stroudsburg Poconos hasn't pitched for more than two weeks because of an ailing arm, but is currently sporting a record of eight victories and a pair of setbacks. The losses came after Radler picked up his present case of arm trouble.

The DeLand club is leading the class "D" Florida State league in double plays at the present time and Radler passes on the information that Bill Mostransky is the best shortstop in the circuit. Mostransky is starring afield as he did last year and he's hitting the ball much better. Al Bachman missed his first game of the season for Pocono A. C. on Tuesday night, due to a smashed finger. Tom Bonser started his first contest of the campaign at third base for the Monroe County entry in the Blue Mountain league in the same game.

Al Gardella, former manager of Bangor and Peekskill teams in the North Atlantic league, is scheduled to join the Wilmington club in the class "B" Inter-State league. Gardella, recently departed manager of the Three Rivers, Que., entry in the class "C" Provincial league, will enter the Philadelphia Phillies' farm system as a player, but the move may result in a managerial position next year. Shortly after signing to pilot Bangor last season, Gardella was offered a manager's job with a Phillie organization, but the offer came too late. However, it may be a different story in the near future.

Gardella will undoubtedly take over the first base job immediately, since the much publicized Tom Casagrande seems to have failed at the initial sack. However, the former Fordham flash seems to have made good as a pitcher. Bill Greenamoyer, former hurler with Nazareth and Bangor, both of the North Atlantic league, is now on the roster of the Portland Apollos, of the Blue Mountain league. Greenamoyer also had a trial with Allentown, of the Inter-State league, earlier this season. Hal Noll, who did his pitching with Lebanon, North Atlantic league last year, was recently sent to Hamilton, Ont., by Allentown.

Ben Jones, graduate of Stroudsburg High and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, has returned home for a short vacation before embarking on a course of study at New York University that will lead to his Doctor's degree. Ben just completed a successful coaching year at Brookville High, where his varsity football team won seven of nine games, while the junior varsity grid machine finished with four wins and no defeats to win the District Nine title in that division. Jones' baseball aggregation won five of six games this spring. Brookville is a town of 6,000 population located near Pittsburgh. The High school and Junior High enrollment is 750.

Pocono A. C. presented General Manager Fred Hershey with a leather traveling kit as a going away present after Tuesday's game with Roseto. Hershey has been recalled by the Army and leaves on Friday. Mike Liseiski and Sam Cooperman, basketball and football officials who work in the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg area annually, will work in the National Football league next season, teaming with Emil Heintz and Johnny Glascott, two of the best officials in the circuit. Cooperman and Liseiski made a hit with scouts while working games in the American Football league last year.

Baseball School Scheduled For Giffels Field

Schoonover To Form League For Summer

Boys between the ages of 13 and 15 inclusive are urged to attend a baseball school at Gordon Giffels field this morning, at 10:30, if they wish to play in a league this season, it was announced last night by Doug Schoonover, director of the Stroudsburg playground.

The school has been formed to instruct the youngsters and to place them on proper teams in a circuit that will operate the rest of the summer. The organization will probably be known as the Inter-Borough League.

School sessions will be held for the most part of the first week, and plans for the league will be announced from time to time prior to opening day.

Uniformed

The teams will be uniformed for the most part and Pocono A.C. will donate balls for the school sessions. Each team will also have a backer.

Schoonover pointed out that the league will be open to any boy from Monroe county and surrounding areas and isn't limited to youngsters of Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg.

A league of this type is being formed to give boys too old for Little League and too young for the George N. Kemp American Legion Post team a chance to play baseball during the summer months.

Schoonover also announced that donations would be gladly accepted as the circuit still needs plenty of equipment.

Snider Clout Clinches Win For Brooklyn

St. Louis (AP) — Duke Snider's fourteenth homer of the year with two mates on base boosted the Brooklyn Dodgers in front and they went on to take a 7-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals last night. Del Rice had a three-run homer for St. Louis.

Snider's blow came in the fifth, immediately after Rice had tied the count 3-3 with his fourth frame four-bagger.

Set The Stage

Cal Abrams, pinchhitting for starter Joe Hatten, opened the fifth with a walk. After Gene Hermanski lined out Peewee Reese singled. Then Snider took over.

In the fourth a triple by Enos Slaughter and walk to Billy Johnson preceded Rice's hit.

The Dodgers took the lead first in the second inning on a walk to Jackie Robinson, single by Gil Hodges, and grounder by Carl Furillo, scoring Robinson from third. Roy Campanella followed with a double, bringing Hodges home and Campanella also counted when Everett Bridges singled to center.

Lowrey Scores

The Redbirds picked up a run off Clyde King in the fifth when Harry Lowrey walked, took second on Red Schoendienst's single, and advanced to third and home on two long flies.

The Dodgers regained that run in the sixth as Campanella hit his second double, scoring Furillo who had singled.

Martin Links Sports And Cerebral Palsy

By Whitney Martin

New York (AP)—You often hear the alibi offered for a beaten fighter:

Or the suggestion that a star linksman had gone stale because he was overgolfed, or a slumping baseball player was benched to give him a rest from the daily strain of competition.

The idea is that the incessant struggle to achieve or maintain a high standard of performance must be broken up by relaxation to reap the greatest benefit.

No Rest For Victims

Which probably is true, except in the case of one group. There is no rest for the thousands upon thousands of cerebral palsy victims in their constant, laborious efforts to overcome their handicap so they may lead normal, happy lives.

Maybe you see no connection between cerebral palsy and sports. Practically speaking, there isn't unless you compare an athlete's training to the never ending efforts of CP sufferers to learn to mouth simple words distinctly or to manipulate a knife and a fork.

Even then the connection is vague. Only by expanding the imagination can you compare the rest-punctuated training of the sports performer with the grim, ceaseless struggle of the CP victim, whose banner is courage and an unflagging will to triumph over adversity.

This weekend sports will add a tidy bit to the fund when Babe Didrickson Zaharias and Patty Berg meet in the playoff for the Women's Weathervane Cross-Country Golf championship.

Louis, Savold Forced To Wait Twenty-Four Hours As Rain Postpones Bout At Polo Grounds

New York, (AP)—Rain caused postponement of the Joe Louis-Lee Savold "battle of the aged" until tonight at the Polo Grounds after both heavyweights weighed in.

The weatherman had an optimistic "clearing this afternoon" forecast despite the showers that dampened midtown streets and washed out a ball game this dreary Wednesday.

What effect the 24-hour postponement will have on the gate is a guess. The International Boxing club still hopes a last minute rush will put the fight over. It's reported over $25,000 is in the till. Maybe they'll do $75,000 with a sunny break, and no radio or home television. Only TV will be on a closed circuit to theaters in six cities.

As for the fights, the only thing certain is each will be one day older. When you're 37, like Louis, or 35, like Savold, that's no gag—especially with 15 rounds to go.

Louis, dead serious about his ambitions to become the first heavyweight champ ever to recapture the title, wants to win this one and go on to a September date with champ Ezzard Charles.

Odds

The odd favoring Louis still hold at 3 to 1 or close to it and about even money on a Louis knockout. You can get 6 to 1 if you like Lee to stop the Bomber. But that job was done only once—by Max Schmeling 15 years ago.

Louis came in a bit heavier than expected at 211¼. He was down to 208¼ for Omelio Agramonte at Detroit May 2 and 207 for Andy Walker at San Francisco, Feb. 23. But it's way below the bulging 218 he weighed the night last September he took a licking from Charles.

Weight isn't the all-important factor with Joe. It's the old reflexes—or lack of them. Louis must prove he still has that old home wallop or forget his dream of winning back the title.

Savold weighed just 190, two pounds less than he did for his last fight—June 6, 1950. That was the night he knocked out Bruce Woodcock to win British recognition as world champion. Lee hasn't put on an ounce in three years, although his stomach used to lap over his bartender's apron.

Red Sox Blank Tigers Behind Wight, 2-0

Boston (AP)—Left hander Bill Wight pitched his best game of the season for the Red Sox yesterday, twirling the Bostonians to a 2-0 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

It was only the second shutout of the season by a Boston pitcher. Willard Nixon blanked the Browns in St. Louis 2-0 on May 7.

Wight was touched for only five hits and only in one inning, the sixth, were the Detroiters able to get more than one.

Paul "Dizzy" Trout pitched almost as well in losing his seventh game. The veteran righthander allowed only six hits and until the eighth trailed only 1-0.

"Little Slug," Vern Stephens, opened the second inning by blasting a three bagger.

Penn Allowed To Participate In Crew Race

Marietta, O., (AP)—Pennsylvania, the Peck's bad boy of NCAA, will be allowed to compete for National College Rowing crown here Saturday, Intercollegiate Rowing association ruled yesterday.

Thus ended, as far as IRA was concerned, dispute on Penn vs NCAA vs television vs football vs crew that threatened to overshadow the famed rowing classic.

Along with the end of the Penn-IRA dispute, this Ohio river town got word Saturday's varsity rowing race may be one of the fastest three-mile crew races in history.

River Swollen

A government engineer said rain has so swollen the Ohio that engineers plans to slow current to almost a halt by closing off dams above and below course is impossible.

This means crews from 13 colleges rowing down the Ohio Saturday will be speeded by at least a three-mile-an-hour current. One school, practicing here yesterday with a similar current, finished considerably faster than the national record.

Decision to declare Penn eligible for the regatta came after a lengthy session of the IRA board of stewards. They met five hours last night and about one and a half hours today before Penn was cleared.

At least one board member favored tossing Penn out of the regatta for its defiance of the television moratorium of the national collegiate athletic association.

Decision Unanimous

But the final decision was an unanimous one by athletic directors of the five schools represented on the board.

In a statement handed newsmen, the board expressed hope Penn will comply with the NCAA decision to televise only a few football games in specified areas during the 1951 season. Penn has announced it will defy the order and televise all its home football games this year.

In explaining the decision to let Penn row in the regatta, the IRA board pointed first to the fact that Penn's entry was accepted "in good faith" last May 31.

Chicago, (AP)—Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox jumped into the lead yesterday for the American league left field starting position in the eighteenth annual All-Star game at Briggs stadium, Detroit, July 10.

Williams, always a heavy favorite in the fans voting for all-star players, pushed Orestes Minoso, of the Chicago White Sox into second place, by a little more than 1,000 votes.

Little Nelson Fox of the Chicago White Sox continued to set the pace in vote getting with 18,812. His nearest rival was Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers with 16,923.

Although Minoso slipped, the White Sox retained a commanding lead of three infield positions. Eddie Robinson was the leader for first base, Nelson Fox for second base and Chico Carrasquel for shortstop. Vern Stephens of the Boston Red Sox held the lead for third base over George Kell, of Detroit.

In the National league fans lineup, Ralph Kiner, the circuit's home run king with the Pittsburgh Pirates, leads for the first base assignment and Jackie Robinson is out in front for the second base job.

Little League Opener Tonight

Eastburg Loop In Flag Day Program

East Stroudsburg Little League will hold its grand opening of the present baseball season tonight, as part of the Flag Day celebration at the East Stroudsburg playground. The game is scheduled to get underway at 7 p.m.

Tonight's contest is actually the third game on the schedule, but the Little league decided to hold its official opening at this time as part of the ceremonies, although one game has already been played and the other rained out. The league thought it best to begin on Tuesday, in an effort to get the circuit rolling so that it can close at a reasonable time.

R. C. Cramer Lumber Co. and the East Stroudsburg Methodists will clash in the big game, with the power of the circuit coming to blows before one of the largest expected crowds of the season.

March

Members of the league will march from the Elks home to the playground as part of the program and will also take part in other parts of the program.

East Stroudsburg's chief burgess, LeRoy J. Kleinle, will throw out the first ball.

Last night's East Stroudsburg Little league conest was postponed because of wet grounds and the East Stroudsburg National Bank and Methodists will play at a later date.

Stroudsburg's Little league game beween the Penn-Stroud hotel and Stroudsburg Security Trust was also postponed last night because of wet grounds, while tonight's schedule calls for the First Stroudsburg National Bank to meet People's Coal Co., at 6:30, at Stroudsburg playground.

Blanchard To Be Assistant Coach

Washington (AP)—Felix "Doc" Blanchard, famous back at West Point five years ago, will return to the Military academy this fall as assistant football coach.

The "Mr. Inside" of the Blanchard-Glenn Davis combination is now an air force captain and jet fighter pilot at an Alaskan air base. He will be transferred later this month to eastern air defense headquarters at Steward field, near West Point.

The Air Force said he would go on temporary duty at the Academy from July through December.

Davis resigned his army commission last year.

Chitwood's Daredevils Expected To Attract Record Crowd To Pocono Sunrise Speedway

Blakeslee — The first appearance of Joie Chitwood, a nine-time money winner in the famous 500 mile Indianapolis speed classic, in the Monroe County area tonight with his World's Champion Auto Daredevils, is expected to attract what promises to be a record-breaking crowd of thrill-seeking fans to Sunrise Speedway.

The Chitwood stuntmen, led by Chitwood himself and Christie Wentzel, will open the action on the raceway at 8:30, with tickets going on sale promptly at 6:30.

A portable lighting system will flood the track, and speedway officials announced yesterday that everything was in readiness for the Chitwood legion of daredevils, who will race, smash and leap brand new 1951 Ford stock sedans in a wild two hour program of death-defying automobile and motorcycle thrillers.

Chitwood will present as an added attraction tonight the amazing "Frankenstein" Frakes, one of the most unusual acts in outdoor show business. "Frankenstein", who has been featured on all major newsreels and was a headline attraction at the nation's biggest state fairs, is appearing for the first time in the East.

Thrilling Act

Frakes will perform his thrilling "dynamite act" in which he enters a coffin-like structure in the infield and sets off seven sticks of dynamite that blow his so-called "coffin of death" to bits and sends his body hurling through space.

The featured attraction, however, is the aerial "Rocket Car" Leap in which Christine Wentzel, of Reading, Pa.; attempts the longest automobile leap on record. This is a variation of the same auto thriller that ended "Lucky" Teter's life in 1942 and has caused the death of nine other stuntmen in recent years.

In the world's record "Rocket car" leap, Wentzel will send a new '51 Ford catapulting into space from a launching rampway, clearing another moving car passing underneath him, and then attempting to land his machine safely on a receiving rampway 86 ft. away.

Other events scheduled tonight on the Sunrise Speedway oval include the world's champion roll-over contest, the slide for life, car crashes through flaming firewalls, the "Dive Bomber" crash, and a motorcycle leap, ramp-to-ramp.

Cream Of Crop Set For Goshen

Goshen, N. Y. — The cream of the nation's trotters and pacers will compete for purses totaling more than $117,000 during the Grand Circuit meeting which opens at Historic Track here on Monday, July 2.

Historic Grand Circuit meeting, the third of the 1951 season, will be the first to be held in daylight. Meetings at Toledo and Westbury have been conducted at night.

Four Events

Historic Track race week will be ushered in by four events restricted to the fillie performers.

The top event is the $16,000 Coaching Club Trotting Oaks which lists Scotch Rhythm and Betsy Volo, two highly regarded 1951 Hambletonian choices. The Coaching Club is limited to three-year-old fillies, while the $9,000 Acorn Stake is for two-year-old trotting ladies.

The other two events on opening day are for pacers. They are $10,000 Ladyship Stake for three-year-olds, and the $7,000 Debutante Stake for two-year-olds.

Historic Track race meeting closes on Friday, July 6.

Rain Halts Game

Portland—Last night's scheduled Blue Mountain League game here between the Portland Apollos and East Bangor was postponed because of wet grounds. No date has been set for making up the contest.

Only Contest On Tap

Tatamy—Tatamy will play host to Stockertown in the only official Blue Mountain League contest on the agenda tonight. The contest will begin at 6:15.

USC Beats Princeton

Omaha (AP)—Southern California scored all its runs in the third inning yesterday to defeat Princeton 4-1 in the opening game of the NCAA baseball tournament, popularly called the world series of college baseball.

The USC-Princeton game kicked off a five-day double-elimination tournament, matching the eight top college baseball teams of the nation. USC, along with the Texas Aggies, was a pre-tourney favorite.

Darkness Ends Stockertown Tilt In Tie

Stockertown—East Bangor and Stockertown battled it out for eight innings here Monday, then had to quit in a 3-3 deadlock after umpires called the game on account of darkness. It was a Blue Mountain league contest.

Both O'Neil, East Bangor pitcher, and Cooper, on the mound for Stockertown, scattered five hits apiece in a nip and tuck duel. O'Neil also claimed hitting honors for East Bangor with two for three while Seibler, Stockertown first baseman, was the leading batsmen for the home team with two hits in four trips to the plate.

East Bangor scored first in the ultimate deadlock, punching through for a single run at the top of the third to take a narrow 1-0 lead.

Stockertown snapped back in the bottom of the fourth, however, with all three of their runs of the night. This feat gave the hosts the upper hand for two frames, but East Bangor came through with a pair at the top of the sixth.

The next two innings found neither team breaking the tie. Then Umpires Jones and Renaldo stopped the hot proceedings as dusk settled.

Errors On Crucial Play Help Giants Beat Cincinnati, 5-2

Cincinnati, (AP)—Cincinnati's infield crumbled in the eighth inning yesterday when errors by Virgil Stallcup and Connie Ryan helped the New York Giants score three runs for a 5-2 decision over lean Ewell Blackwell.

With the score tied at 2-2, Don Mueller opened the decisive eighth with a single, then Stallcup fumbled Hank Thompson's grounder. After Whitey Lockman flied out, Wes Westrum broke the tie with a single scoring Mueller.

Blackwell got Willie Mays on an infield roller and walked Bobby Thomson intentionally to get at Uitcher George Spencer. Spencer rapped a grounder to Ryan who threw high to Ted Kluszewski, the ball bouncing off the first baseman's glove as both men scored.

Grid Browns Swap With Detroit Lions

Cleveland (AP) — The Cleveland football Browns traded former Notre Dame end Jim Martin and four other players yesterday to the Detroit Lions.

In return, the Browns got linebacker Charley Schroll, Ed Wood, aguard now in the Marines, and first and 16th draft choices next January. They also got an undisclosed amount of cash.

The four other players acquired by the Lions are Ed Pasky, University of South Carolina quarterback; halfbacks Tom Lucia, Louisville, and Lowell Tew, Alabama; and tackle Dave Rakestraw, Tulsa. Lucia and Rakestraw were sold outright.

Utah Nine Wins, 7-1

Omaha (AP)—The University of Utah, getting fine pitching from Max Pessetto, defeated Tennessee's Vols 7-1 yesterday in the second game of the college world series.

Chandler Pact Before Owners

New York (AP)—The Big League club owners will gather here today to say a final, official farewell to A. B. (Happy) Chandler the Kentucky statesman who has been their commissioner for nearly seven years.

Meeting in separate sessions, the National and American league heads are expected to make short work of the business at hand — the signing of a lengthy legal document which indemnifies Chandler against financial responsibility for any damages which might be awared in several suits now pending against organized ball.

All Will Sign

Lawyers for the two leagues have studied the document and say it is all right, barring a couple of minor revisions. All 16 club presidents were reported ready and willing to sign the release.

Chandler has said that, once the signed papers are in his safe, he will start to get ready to vacate the commissioner's office at Cincinnati. He has given no specific date, but said it would be "some time not too far off."

Probable Date

Speculation is that the ousted czar might choose the joint league meeting on July 9, the day before the all-star game, to tell his employers goodbye — among other things. His $65,000 yearly salary is guaranteed him until his seven-year contract expires next April 30, no matter when he resigns.

Hogan, Locke Favorites In U. S. Open

Birmingham, Mich. (AP) — Defending champion Ben Hogan and South Africa's Bobby Locke shared the favorite roles yesterday on the eve of the fifty-first U.S. Open championship, but Hogan had other ideas.

"Sam Snead should win this tournament by a mile," the normally tactiturn Texan said in a locker room gabfest while a stabbing rain outside drenched the big green monster known as Oakland Hills.

"Sam has the long driving game adapted to this course and he ought to take it," Hogan added, "but don't think I intend to tell him how."

Snead never has won an Open although he has played in 11 and four times seemd to have had the big prize in his grasp. Hogan is seeking to become the first repeater since Ralph Guldahl in 1937-38.

Unusually Talkative

Hogan's unusual talkativeness overshadowed other developments at the exclusive Michigan club wheer the 72-hole championship shoves off at 8 a. m. EST, today.

The U. S. Golf association announced that $4,000 instead of $2,000 would go to the victor. In raising the total purse from $12,000 to $15,000 in anticipation of a record crowd, the golf fathers decided to give the runnerup $2,000 and the third place winner $1,500, each a raise of $500 over original plans.

It was also disclosed that Dick Metz, veteran tournament player from Kansas City, Kansas, had withdrawn and his place was taken by Tom Draper, a Detroit amateur. Metz was runner-up to Guldahl in the 1938 Open at Cleveland.

Heavy Rains

Activities were slowed by the heavy morning rains and most of the elite of the game spent the day in the clubhouse pondering the popular question:

Will it be Hogan, Locke or a guy named Joe?

When the field of 162 sets forth on the first round, most of the attention will be focussed on Hogan, seeking his third Open title in four years, and Locke, the jolly British Open king.

Humez Wins Crown

Porthcawl, Wales (AP) —Smiling Charles Humez of France, won the European welterweight tilt last night with a one-sided decision over champion Eddie Thomas of Wales before a crowd of 8,000 who sat through drizzling rain. Humez weighed 146¼, Thomas 145½.

Senators Obtain Kluttz On Waivers

Washington (AP)— The Washington Senators announcedyes terday that they have signed Clyde Kluttz, St. Louis Browns' catcher, on waivers. He will join the team immediately. Kluttz hit .291 for Baltimore last year.

This puts the Senators one over the limit in the number of players each team may have, but they had no announcement as to whom they would cut loose.

there is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your keynumber. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Kiwanis Club Marks Flag Day With Address On Patriotism; Citation Winners Introduced

Flag day was observed by the Kiwanis club at its meeting in the Penn-Stroud hotel yesterday afternoon when Rev. William F. Wunder, pastor of Grace Evangelical Lutheran church, East Stroudsburg, past state chaplain of the POS of A, spoke on "Patriotism."

Another feature of the meeting was the presentation of the Kiwanis citation winners at Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High schools, who were heartily greeted, also given gifts.

Alfred W. Munson, principal of Stroudsburg High, presented Andrew Weingartner, of Bartonsville, who was accompanied by his father, A. R. Weingartner. Mr. Munson paid tribute to the leadership of the young man during his course in school. Weingartner has been awarded a scholarship at Williams College, Williamstown, Mass.

Richard Hilliard, the East Stroudsburg High winner, was presented by Ralph O. Burrows, the principal. The young man was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Chester Hilliard, of East Stroudsburg. Mr. Burrows explained the democratic manner in which the choice was made and stated he considered the citation as one of the finest awarded in the school. Hilliard is the first commercial student to receive the citation.

The name of the winners are inscribed on bronze plaques displayed in both schools.

The speaker, Rev. Mr. Wunder was presented by Dale H. Learn, program chairman. Mr. Learn also stated that Mrs. Russell Sandt, of Tannersville, has the pen with which President Harry S. Truman signed the proclamation designating today as Flag day in the country. The late Mr. Sandt was national secretary of the POS of A and a leader in the organization over a period of years.

Mr. Learn stated today is the 174th anniversary of the adoption of the flag and that the POS of A was primarily responsible for the designation of the day.

The guest speaker commended the young men who received the Kiwanis citations and congratulated their parents. He also complimented the club for the Girl Scout and Clothing fund donations. He called attention to the fact the 1774 Congress set the date for the observation of Flag day and reminded his hearers of the patriotism attached to the event.

He asked what patriotism meant to each one personally, their families and the history of our country, what a person is in his own heart and what is man. Mankind, he said, comprises certain elements in patriotism.

The speaker declared mankind had ever been a fighter to overcome barriers which came his way and that there were times when we must fight alone, but God gives us the stability to fight. Man is often a victim due to circumstances.

He declared mankind has never been a moneymaker, yet money wasn't everything. Happiness, health, peace are more important. Life, he pointed out is not always a bed of roses, and that we must think to achieve. Young men will learn that thought and meditation are necessary to get on in life.

Mankind was pictured as a builder by the speaker, not only to himself but the glory of God. All man has done is as nothing compared with the great leadership of Jesus Christ who labored for peace and love.

Rev. Wunder emphasized that being of service to others was more than anything else, brings self satisfaction and gathers wealth in the bosom. Regardless of prestige, be of service to someone else from a sincere heart, for the flag we love, the God we adore, give more of ourselves day by day and this old world under God will continue, he concluded.

President Harold W. Leininger welcomed Kiwanian P. J. Rawson, Scranton, and Jim Callahan, of New York City. Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlsen gave the invocation. President Leininger leaves on Saturday for St. Louis, Mo., to attend the sessions of Kiwanis International which runs Sunday through next Thursday.

Dr. Lee Warren To Address Men

Dr. Lee D. Warren, of the faculty of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, will address the Men's Brotherhood of the Stroudsburg Methodist church at a meeting to be held at the church tonight.

The meeting will start at 7:30 p. m.

To Conduct Service

Rev. Harold C. Eaton, pastor of the East Stroudsburg Methodist church, will conduct a baptismal service at the Hauserville chapel at 2.30 p.m. Sunday.

Tank-Led Units Erase Reds' Iron Triangle

Meat Industry Denies Strike Against Curbs

Washington (AP)—Beef industry spokesmen told to a congressional committee last night they are not "on strike" against beef price rollbacks. They said they cannot buy beef animals at existing government ceilings.

A dozen of the industry's top spokesmen appeared before the Senate-House Defense Production "watchdog" committee in an unusual night session.

Chairman Maybank (D-SC) said Congress wanted to know if the industry was rebelling against price rollbacks by witholding livestock.

Rosco C. Haynie, vice president in charge of beef operations for the Wilson Packing Co., said packers are unable to buy live cattle at government ceiling price levels.

Meanwhile, a new price program loomed for the clothing industry. Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) officials said it will not have much effect on the total family wardrobe budget—but prices on some garments would go up and prices on others would be rolled back.

In another controls development last night, Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston said the Ford Motor company's suggestions for continued price-wage controls would "destroy stabilization."

The Ford company earlier became the first big business to ask Congress to continue controls beyond the June 30 expiration date of the defense production act.

But the auto firm, at the same time, has suggested major changes in present control powers. These changes were attacked by Johnston last night in a letter to Senator Moody (D-Mich).

Ford had proposed automatic price increases for business to compensate for all labor and materials cost increases. Johnston's letter called that idea "built-in inflation."

Ford also objected to using profits as a standard for determining price ceilings.

Johnston said the effect of Ford's proposals would be "to cut the heart out of any fair and sound stabilization program."

At the watchdog committee's meat hearings, Paul C. Smith, vice president of Swift and company, told congressmen:

"By next week we will find that meat distribution is such that we will get the first demand for rationing."

Rep. Paul Brown (D-Ga), vice chairman of the watchdog committee, took sharp issue with the meat industry's stand.

"If we take off all price and wage controls," Brown warned, "the American dollar within 18 months will be worth less than 10 cents."

He urged the meat industry to "come across" and help control prices.

OPS sources also disclosed that their investigators are working on a number of suspected beef black market cases involving "some pretty big people" in the meat industry and some "pretty serious allegations" of ceiling evasion by packers and wholesalers.

These sources said the violations occurred before the recent controversial order rolling back beef prices 10 per cent, and that they believe the black market practices are continuing.

Also under investigation are "quite a few" cases of alleged illegal slaughtering, which will be turned over to the Justice department in a few days.

Trenton Case In Jury's Hands

Trenton, N. J. (AP)— Locked behind closed doors for more than 11 hours, a Mercer county court jury continued deliberations today in an effort to reach a verdict in the Trenton Six murder case.

Midnight passed without any indications from the jurors as to whether they were nearing a decision.

The six Negro defendants were convicted in 1948 of the robbery-slaying of 72-year-old William Horner but because of errors during the 44-day trial the New Jersey supreme court ordered a new trial.

Beef Supplies Dwindle Locally But Prices Too High To Create Heavy Demand; Pork Poultry Some Cheaper

"We'll just have to feed 'em more fruit and vegetables." This is the way one local meat dealer summed up his future business prospects yesterday.

With major packinghouses shut down or hobbling along for more than a week under OPS livestock pricing rules, he and fellow meat dealers are faced with what the Wall Street Journal terms the "beef paradox."

Beef supplies have been dwindling, replacement is slow, or in some cases nonexistent, but the hard-hit public isn't interested in buying anyway, dealers reported.

Even though beef stocks are low in most regional stores, the public hasn't started any new buyer's rush to stock up. Instead, the average housewife is more interested in the lower-priced meats.

Pork is becoming a popular meat diet now that it is selling at about 35 cents cheaper than beef.

But poultry prices are still more attractive to shoppers. A Stroudsburg merchant related he sold out of chickens last Saturday. He said prices have dropped again and "now we're almost giving them away."

Most meat dealers said their reserves are getting low or have already been depleted. "All I get are promises," one dealer said yesterday, "and I can't even depend upon that."

William G. Miller, who runs a market on Milford Rd., East Stroudsburg, said the demand for poultry has relieved the pressure from dwindling reserves. "But this weekend will put a hole in it, though," he added. "Orders just aren't coming in."

Miller said customers may find poultry hard to get in this locality in the near future. He pointed out chicken prices have been low in this area, but that distributors are being offered higher prices for their products in the New Jersey area.

THE GAME THEY'RE PLAYING isn't dealer's choice. These Brooklyn butchers would rather be cutting steaks than cards. But, as the beef shortage continues to spread from the western stockyards to the butcher shops, they suddenly find themselves with nothing to sell.

One grocer said his prices have dropped—below the OPS ceiling but the customer just isn't interested in the more fancy cuts of meat.

"Why should he be nowadays?" he asked. "He sees steak is plentiful, but the stuff is selling at a price the customer thinks is too high. He figures why should he pay a dollar or more per pound for beef when at the next counter he can get chicken at 47 cents a pound."

Earl D. Dennis, who operates a market on N. Sixth St., Stroudsburg, said he received only a percentage of his regular supply of beef this week, but added there was plenty of pork available.

A North Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, merchant said business has been very poor. People aren't rushing to buy as they did during other food shortage scares in the past.

"The customer is just about broke with these high prices," he declared.

Some dealers said their customers were not buying pork or poultry in greater quantities, while their competitors noted just the opposite.

But most dealers agreed that the customer, hanging on to an already battered pocketbook, wasn't buying any more than he actually needed.

Commission Reports On Progress

Washington (AP) — The atomic experts gained "much useful" information toward creation of a hydrogen bomb in the latest series of Eniwetok tests, they said yesterday.

And they let it be known that "larger, improved" standard atomic weapons of "several times" the power of the original bombs had been tried out.

The first official public report of what was done during tests run of last April and May at the mid-Pacific proving grounds was given at a joint news conference of the Atomic Energy commission and Defense department.

There officials of the two agencies and of the task force which carried out the tests told a little—but by no means all—of what went on in the secluded, guarded corner of the Pacific.

Out of the conference also came these facts:

First. So much progress is being made in bomb development that tests will be made more frequently than even the stepped-up program of the last six months at the Nevada and Eniwetok proving grounds.

Second. For the first time, jet planes, both bombers and fighters, were used in atomic weapons tests to see how they would stand the blast and heat of atomic explosion while in the air.

Three. All of the Eniwetok explosions were made with bombs mounted on steel towers; none of them was dropped by airplanes.

The officials took pains to caution against overemphasis on hydrogen bomb progress.

AEC Chairman Gordon Dean noted that in recent official statements there are references to "thermonuclear" and "hydrogen." Then Dean said:

"It seems that every time we use these words, reports are stimulated that we either have a hydrogen bomb, have tested a hydrogen bomb, or are on the verge of producing a hydrogen bomb. In fairness to the American people, I think I should call your attention to the fact that neither the AEC nor the Department of Defense has said any of these things."

Dr. Alvin C. Graves, director of the test division for the Los Alamos laboratories of the commission, siad:

"I may say that we have gained new information and understanding of the basic phenomena underlying thermonuclear reactions. Most of the experimental projects designed to give specific information in the field of thermonuclear research were so novel and complex that we would have been happy if only a few of them had worked.

"It is a remarkable tribute to the laboratories and other agencies that participated in this work that so much useful information was secured from these projects."

Lt. Gen. Elwood R. Quesada, commander of the joint task force which conducted "operation greenhouse" at Eniwetok, said the latest series of weapons tests was "successful in every respect."

Quesada disclosed that the tests of various atomic weapons were made against military equipment including tanks and planes.

Chinese Begin Mass Retreat Toward Kumsong

Tokyo, Thursday (AP) — Two powerful Allied columns paced by more than 100 tanks struck boldly across the central Korean plains yesterday, rolled into abandoned Pyonggang and rubbed out the Communists' once-vaunted "iron triangle."

A delayed field dispatch said the Chinese Reds began a mass withdrawal yesterday along the central front. It said the enemy appeared to be falling back on Kumsong, main town on the highway between Pyonggang and Wonsan, the east coast port rubbled by months of record naval bombardment.

The Allied columns, with doughboys riding the tanks, struck out yesterday morning from the two towns at the base of the triangle, Chorwon on the west and Kumhwa on the east. The tanks met virtually no opposition. They returned to the Chorwon-Kumhwa line after troops scouted high ground north of Pyonggang and found it deserted.

Bomb Railroad In Manchuria, General Urges

Washington (AP)—Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer urged yesterday that the United States bomb the Russo-Chinese railroad in Manchuria even at the "calculated risk" of igniting world war three.

The railroad, jointly controlled by Russia and Red China, is used to funnel supplies to the Chinese Communist armies fighting in Korea.

American and Allied planes are now forbidden to bomb targets north of the Yalu river frontier between Korea and Manchuria.

Testifying for the third straight day at the Senate's MacArthur inquiry, Wedemeyer said bombing the Manchurian railroad "might result" in war with Russia, but he declared:

"It is a calculated risk that personally I would recommend we accept."

Wedemeyer also said he disagrees with earlier testimony by Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, chief of naval operations, that a U. S. naval blockade of Russian-controlled ports in Manchuria would be "an act of war."

Sherman had said he favors a United Nations blockade of Red China but opposes the United States undertaking it alone.

Wedemeyer has come out for a naval blockade of Red China and the shelling of Chinese coastal cities—by U. S. warships alone if necessary.

The three-star general, an expert on China, gave his views to the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees.

AP Correspondent Jim Becker said officers expressed amazement at the apparently complete withdrawal of the Chinese from the triangle, where once the Communists had massed ten of thousands of troops for powerful strikes deep into South Korea.

Some officers said the Chinese, badly hurt in their last two offensives, may have pulled back clear to the Wonsan line. That is about 100 miles north of parallel 38.

From U. S. Eighth Army headquarters, AP Correspondent Tom Bradshaw reported that loss of the triangle and its road network pushed the Reds' main supply routes back far to the north. Communist units operating on the eastern front now must be supplied either over a route that swings through besieged Wonsan, or over secondary mountain trails.

Intelligence officers who flew over the area north of the triangle said they saw few signs the Chinese planned to stand anywhere in the area.*

"We didn't think they could hold the area, but we thought they would stage a more spirited delaying action," one officer said.

Bradshaw said it appeared that the Reds, if they launch any sizable offensive, must strike on the western end of the battle line. There roads to Red combat units still are fairly direct.

He said the Reds put up more of a fight Wednesday north and east of Kumhwa, which formed the anchor at the southeast corner of the triangle. Some of the fighting still was going on at the latest reports.

Enemy groups ranging from 100 to 400 men were seen withdrawing north above Hwachon, where Red resistance had been bitter for a week.

Dug-in Reds around Yanggu and Inje also fought bitterly in what Bradshaw called a series of "hunt and peck" actions. The Allies were doing all the hunting and most of the pecking.

Along the eastern front—from an area north of Inje to the east coast above Jansong — Reds in groups of from 10 to several hundred fought from hilltop positions to slow down the Allied sweep.

Allied planes mounted more than 1,000 sorties Wednesday for the second straight day. They claimed a heavy toll of the enemy in the Pyonggang area. Two Allied planes were lost to enemy ground fire.

The whims of the Korean rainy season were expected to govern any Allied advance north from Pyonggang.

"We must be in a firm position when the rains hit hard," one officer said.

Entry into the last of the three cities used by the Reds for their giant buildups on the Pyonggang plain was made at 1:45 p.m. (11:45 p.m., EDT, Tuesday).

Storm Causes Multi-Million Dollar Loss

Richmond, Va., (AP)—A tornado cut across this city of 230,000 late yesterday, toppling trees, tearing off roof tops and leaving an estimated $2,000,000 to $4,000,000 damage.

No fatalities were reported, but half a dozen persons were hospitalized with serious injuries.

The damage estimate was made by Robert O. Glover, chairman of the local Red Cross Disaster committee.

The twister moved in from the southwest at about 4:10 p. m., spinning across much of the city's middle and heading out across the northeast.

In its wake it left torn down power lines, sheared off roofs, and trees and branches littering streets and yards.

Fires broke out in some sections of the city and all off-duty firemen and policemen were quickly summoned back on the job.

Police designated part of the west end section as disaster area. Teams of Red Cross workers were dispatched to the area.

The Weather bureau said it was the first tornado to hit the city in at least 10 years—but some observers believed it might be the first to ever strike Richmond.

Committee Sends Tax Measure To Floor Of House

Washington (AP) — The House Ways and Means committee in a series of final votes yesterday completed action on a bill to increase taxes by $7,300,000,000 to $7,500,000,000 a year.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) said the committee will give the legislation a final inspection and introduce it in the House today, and hopes to pass it next week. For all practical purposes, he said, the bill was finished yesterday, although possible minor changes cannot be ruled out.

While staff experts had not worked out firm revenue estimates, the measure as it stands is designed to hit individual income taxpayers for about $2,800,000,000 more, and corporations for a like amount. The balance of the added revenue would be obtained from higher excise taxes, a new tax on gambling, a new system of withholding at the source on dividends and interest, and several miscellaneous changes.

Heavy Downpour

Greensburg, (AP) — Torrential storms battered Westmoreland county yesterday, drowning a child and causing property damage estimated at close to $1,000,000.

Language Student Tests Skill On Wrong Prisoner

With the U. S. Second Division, (AP)—For weeks now Cpl. John E. Diecchio has been studying the Chinese language.

He picked up words from Chinese Communist prisoners at the prisoner of war enclosure. At last he figured he had assembled enough words to launch an interrogation in Chinese.

"I beg your pardon," the first prisoner he questioned replied in English. "What did you say?"

The Erie, Pa., soldier had picked on a Chinese prisoner born in the Philippines, where they speak about as much English as they do in Erie.

Allocations May Extend To All Goods

Washington (AP) — The government announced yesterday that the whole manufacturing economy—consumer goods as well as military and defense-supporting industries—may be brought under compulsory allocation of metals on October 1.

Manly Fleischmann, head of NPA, said the system would be extended if makers of consumer items such as radios and refrigerators find themselves unable to get supplies of steel, aluminum and copper.

Fleischmann said consumer industries soon will be invited to file requests for basic metals to be used in the last quarter of the year.

If consumer industries are brought into the metals allocation plan it will be a mixed blessing for them. They will be assured a guaranteed supply of metal, but it may be less than they want, and they will be prohibited from shopping around for more.

NPA said that, as of July 1, more than 350 types of civilian products, including most industrial items, will get government allocations of copper, steel and aluminum.

Fleischmann estimated about 10 per cent of American steel production in the third quarter will be available for consumer goods. This compares with about 15 per cent in pre-Korea months.

Food Prices Drop

Washington (AP) — Retail food prices dropped a tiny notch during the last two weeks of May after hiting an all-time peak in the first two weeks, the Bureau of Labor statistics estimated yesterday.

Mac Accuses Policy Makers Of Appeasement In Korea

Austin, Tex., (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur yesterday bitterly accused U. S. policy makers of appeasement in Korea and of "moral weakness" by talking of a peace settlement.

He told an audience of some 20,000 Texans that America's first line of defense is the Yalu river at the Manchurian border and not the Elbe river in Europe.

He charged U. S. foreign policy appears to be influenced from abroad and by fear of what other nations might think or do.

In a speech bristling with defiance of Truman administration war policies, the five-star general called for stronger measures against the enemy in Korea to end the war "rapidly and decisively."

Again MacArthur challenged the administration claim that to spread the war against China might draw Russia into the conflict and touch off world war three.

MacArthur advocates bombing Red China, blockading the Red-held coast, and using Chinese Nationalist troops as the best way to bring a quick end to the conflict. His public statements on these views finally led to his ouster by President Truman.

But the administration and the Joint Chiefs of Staff contend this program carries no guarantee of victory and the war should be limited to Korea as the best road to peace. MacArthur said "there is no slightest doubt in my mind" but that Russia has been engaging in the "greatest bulldozing diplomacy history has ever recorded."

He contended the Soviets have succeeded not because of military strength "but in the moral weakness of the free world."

The accusation of appeasement was a theme that ran throughout the general's hard-hitting speech. On this subject he said:

"In Korea today, we have reached that degree of moral trepidation that we pay tribute in the blood of our sons to the doubtful belief that the hand of a blistering potential enemy may in some way be thus stayed.

"Munich, and many other historical examples have taught us that diplomatic appeasement but sows the seeds of future conflict. Yet, oblivious to these bloody lessons, we now practice a new and yet more dangerous form of appeasement — appeasement on the battlefield where-under we soften our blows, withhold our power, and surrender military advantages, in apparent hope that in some nebulous way by so doing a potential enemy will be coerced to desist from attacking us."

MacArthur said "Those responsible for the condition of our national defense' plead this country is not prepared to fight. But he declared "I cannot accept such an estimate." He added this country has the inherent strength to defeat any enemy who attacks."

Garment Strike Called Off By 65,000 Workers

New York (AP) — The first big work stoppage in the East's huge garment industry in a quarter of a century was called off late yesterday.

Sixty-five thousand makers of women's and children's coats and suits were ordered to return to work today after two days of idleness.

The back-to-work order came after negotiations between the cloak joint board of the AFL International ladies garment workers union and four employer groups, representing some 2,000 shops in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Pennsylvania.

Of the 65,000 workers involved, about 45,000 work in the vast garment center in mid-Manhattan.

Senate Lifts Dole Secrecy

Wasington (AP)— The Senate voted yesterday to lift the 12-year ban against public inspection of state relief rolls.

By voice vote it added an amendment to the Labor-Federal Security fund bill which would permit states to open their relief lists to public scruting without losing Federal matching money for assistance payments.

It still must win approval in conference with the House and then again in both branches and by the President before becoming law.

Legislators in several states, particularly Indiana, Florida, Virginia and New York, have had bills pending on the subject for weeks following disclosures that many relief clients are chiselers.

Officials say the secrecy clause was written into the social security law in 1939 because of "political abuses" in connection with lists of old-age assistance recipients. The officials say the present law limits inspection of the rolls to those connected with administration of the act.

Reject Proposal

Washington (AP)—The Senate rejected yesterday, 36 to 35, a proposal to slash the annual and sick leave of Federal civil service workers.

Ban On Joining Service Of Own Choice Suspended

Washington (AP)—The Defense department yesterday acted to speed the flow of volunteers into the nation's fighting forces.

The department announced it is temporarily lifting the ban preventing men from joining the service of their choice after they have taken or been notified to take pre-induction physical examinations.

The suspension will be in effect for one month beginning June 15.

Assistant defense secretary Anna M. Rosenberg said about 300,000 men will be affected.

Mrs. Rosenberg confirmed, in a statement, what the services have been saying unofficially about their difficulties in getting volunteers, particularly during the last two months.

The Air Force recently disclosed it could not meet its 850,000 goal originally scheduled for June 30.

DeValera Back In Power As Irish Premier

Dublin, Ireland, (AP)—Eamon De Valera, the 68-year-old Brooklyn-born rebel once sentenced to death, rode back into power last night as the new prime minister of Ireland.

The Dail (lower house of Parliament) elected him prime minister by a vote of 74 to 69. Three members abstained and the speaker of the 147-member body has no vote.

Five of the 14 independents joined the 69 deputies of De Valera's Fianna Fail (soldiers of destiny) party in putting him over after John A. Costeluo's coalition was defeated 74 to 72.

Stiff Blow

Socialized medicine has just taken a nasty solar plexus slap.

Labor traditionally has been one of the major backers of the scheme. But Dave Beck of Seattle, executive vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (AFL) has told the American Medical Association in Atlantic City that socialized medicine won't work.

Last winter another major labor leader, William L. Hutcheson,, president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, condemned the program which has figured largely in plans of the Truman administrations and the previous ones.

Free choice of doctors, surgeons and dentists still appeals strongly to the American public. These are all possible in the voluntary health insurance plans which Dave Beck says should be given precedence. A lot of tacit approval of socialized medicine has come from those who haven't taken the time to familiarize themselves fully with all its implications.

Those RFC Letters

Senator Fulbright's committee investigating the Reconstruction Finance Corp. has voted unanimously not to make public any of the 843 letters to that Government lending agency from members of Congress.

President Truman obtained these letters from RFC files last February after the committee named a number of his appointees in a report charging that "influence and favoritism" had affected the agency's policies. Their writers included 67 senators and 154 representatives.

"Undoubtedly," the committee says, there have been instances of pressure by members of Congress on behalf of loan applicants.

But it concludes that the letters, "taken by themselves," reveal no improprieties and would prove nothing unless they were considered together with all the other factors involved in the negotiation of loans.

And it would be "utterly fantastic," Senator Fulbright asserts, for the committee to try to trace all the factors in each of 843 letters.

Certainly that would be a long and difficult task, and the committee's decision not to undertake it is understandable. The public, which has been given much reason for confidence in the courage and integrity of the committee's members, probably will not quarrel with that decision.

But the public can only hope that the task, if undertaken, would not have revealed other cases like that of Senator Murray of Montana, who could see nothing wrong in asking the RFC to grant a loan which enabled his own lawyer son to earn a large fee.

However, that may be, the "letters-from-Congress" episode will have served a useful purpose if senators and representatives accept it as a warning not to put improper pressure on the RFC.

And W. Stuart Symington, the new administrator of that agency, is continuing to provide encouraging evidence of alert determination to clean it up and keep it straight.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Some months ago, a collection of wealthy ornithologists in New Jersey triumphantly announced that they had tracked down the nesting grounds of a very elusive bird named the bristle-thighed curlew. This name, for some reason caused readers to begin inventing ridiculous species of non-existent birds, the craziest of which were duly listed in Tide, the advertisers' magazine. Examples: the tufted dowager, red-eyed crosspatch, double-breasted seersucker, electric crane, weekend bat, vester interest, bleary-eyed hangover, and extra-maritallark.

A native of the Ozarks was asked by a revenue agent, "Seen your grandpappy lately?" The native pointed with his corncob pipe to an indistinct object at the far end of his tomato patch and said, "See that figger over thar? It's either a tree stump or grandpappy. Keep your eyes on it. If it moves it's a tree stump."

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood — Getting acquaint-with eligible young men is a problem even for movie stars. Patricia Neal, who has caused at least one fan-magazine writer to express concern that she might be headed for spinsterhood, told me:

"When I first came out to Hollywood"—from Broadway, three and a half years ago—"I had more than sufficient dates. I was going out constantly. But once you've gone through the list, well, that's it."

These dates included actors, writers, agents, and directors — "all nice fellows"—but no romantic spark struck fire.

"I'd like to know some people outside the profession," the tall southerner reflected, "but unfortunately you never meet any one outside the profession. There must be some nice eligible doctors or arcnitects around!"

Pat, currently teamed professionally with a man from another world (Michael Rennie) in "The Day the Earth Stood Still," recalled her most amusing Hollywood date. The guy, a well-known actor, suggested that they engage in what he called "a publicity romance." Miss Neal said no . . .

Far up Bronson Canyon in Hollywood, the modern apartment houses and homes thin out, and the pavement ends. A sharp turn to the right on the dirt road, and you're on historic Hollywood ground.

There movies have been filmed since 1911. There, just two and a half miles from Hollywood and Vine, picture companies still get out into the rugged wilds. I I found Burt Lancaster and his fellow Foreign Legionnaires in "Ten Tall Men" holed up in a jagged cave, preparing to fend off the enemy.

These Days -- By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

The China Lobby

Senator Brien McMahon raised the issue of "the China lobby" which is a vague and undefined term for American citizens who favor the cause of Nationalist China. Senator McMahon desires that "the China lobby" be investigated, which is not a bad idea.

But we should have an investigation of the public relations activities of all foreign governments in the United States. We might begin with the two largest, Soviet Russia and Great Britain, to find out precisely what they have done and how much they have expended in this country during the past 20 years.

It would be interesting to know how much was spent out of lend-lease, UNRRA and ECA—that is, American money spent by aliens to influence American public opinion. Nationalist China's share would indeed be small, because that country never had much money, Senator Styles Bridges, in discussing this, asked:

"Now, there are many other friendly governments in the world today, with which we have association, who are interested in United States aid, United States help in one form or another, such as Great Britain, such as France, such as the Republic of India, such as Greece, such as Sweden, such as Finland, such as Denmark, such as Colombia, and so on.

"If they are over here attempting to persuade or influence American policy, either for the purpose of getting aid in any form, whether it be in loans, grants, or otherwise, or influence legislation, directly or indirectly, they are lobbyists and they should be investigated, should they not?"

What is generally meant by "the China lobby" is Americans who have spent their own time and money to fight the Communist conquest of China. I am sure that some agencies of the Nationalist government have hired Americans for various purposes. These should be registered as foreign agents according to the law.

But these are not what is meant by "the China lobby". The term always is used against such persons as Alfred Kohlberg, a reputable merchant, who has spent of his own fortune to fight Communism. Kohlberg, I am sure, would welcome investigation.

And Kohlberg is not alone. There are newspapermen, merchants and missionaries who have devoted themselves to fighting Communism not only in China but here at home. Because these are volunteers, receiving no subsidies from Nationalist China, they have functioned without consulting any Chinese. Most of them feel that Communism in China is an American issue.

Some of them are not at all concerned about Chiang Kai-Shek or T. V. Soong or any other Chinese. They feel that it is bad for the United States for Soviet Russia to own China. Some insist that at this historic moment, there is no alternate for Chiang Kai-shek. Others hold the view that that is not as important as that Russia should not dominate China under any circumstances.

The principal conflict among so-called China experts—apart from American Communists and fellow-travellers—is on the subject of corruption and reform. Some feel that nothing can be done about China until corruption ends and reform is achieved. Others, like myself, take two views on this subject:

1. That what we call corruption in China is a normal, historic process of compensation for public service. It is not an efficient system, but it existed at one time or another in various forms (like tax farming) throughout the world.

2. That corruption is not as unusual as some like to indicate, and while it cannot be condoned, it apparently cannot be readily obliterated. Note the Kefauver and Fulbright reports, both of which only scratched the surface in this country.

This difference of view does not affect such a matter as the recent effort of certain Chinese in this country to corner the soyabean market. Of this, all friends of China were ashamed. As the story went, this operation, via Hongkong, was essentially designed to avoid American income tax payments, which seems to be a habit with rich refugees in this country. Certainly, the Department of Agriculture knows all about it and about the American lawyers who advised how to do such things. There is no reason why all of this should not be made public, unless the lawyers are too important politically to be involved in sordid business.

But none of this has anything to do with what Senator McMahon calls "the China lobby."

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington — The hatchet job on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's administration of the Japanese homeland is gaining momentum. And a number of the same characters who whittled away at Chiang Kai-shek and China's freedom can be seen crawling out of this woodwork.

I doubt if anybody fighting in the Pacific during World War Two thought they were killing Japs so the USA could turn over that country to Socialists or Communists. Yet, Gen. MacArthur's critics charge him with failing to promote government control of Japanese industry and the Japanese people.

"Failure in Japan," a recent book by Robert B. Textor, a civilian who spent two years in Tokyo working on the government payroll as a civil information and education officer, harps on the idea that nationalization of Japanese industry is the only way to handle that country's economy. He also balks at American investment in Japan, but has nothing to say about British socialist investments in China.

Textor peddles State department gospel in his writings, which reduces his views to relative unimportance, except for one thing. He acquired a friend during his formative days when he was learning how to think about the Far East. His friend is none other than Owen Lattimore, the Baltimore Bugle.

Just because Secretary of State Dean Acheson and other officials of that department have no memory now of ever having seen or heard of Lattimore when the Baltimore Bugle was running in and out of the department, doesn't mean that Lattimore is a wraith. He is as un-ghostly as any of the other State department advisers who hate Chiang Kai-shek for trying to save China from the Communists.

Gen. MacArthur and his able aide, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, put together a new constitution for the Japanese when they had finished licking that country in the war. Constitutional lawyers say it is a model of Democratic processes and most Japanese leaders agree. In addition, deliberations are underway to close a deal on a Japanese peace treaty which will give that country a chance to start over again as a friend of this country.

Naturally we can't have the Japs budding up to the Russians if we want to hang onto anything we have left in the Pacific. Japan is a rugged industrial nation when it is producing at full clip, which is the way we want it now that the Russians and Chinese Reds have started a war in Korea.

The Baltimore Bugle, however, dashed off another literary gem for Textor's book in the form of a foreward. To enjoy its full flavor you have to watch the commas and periods. The Bugle always has a kicker in his well placed paragraphs and it's no fun reading him unless you know what to watch for.

On this go-around Lattimore gets a mite testy because he thinks the U. S. is trying to "impose" on Japan a policy of hostility to Red China and Russia. He thinks we should, of course, support "full freedom and independence for Japan," but should refrain from pointing out to the Japanese that they'll only get their fingers burnt if they play around with Russia.

The fact that the Japanese only have to look across a few miles of water to get an idea of what the Communists are doing in Korea leaves the Baltimore Bugle untroubled. He seems to think that if left alone the Japanese will naturally butter up to Red China and Russia.

I can't be positive about whether Textor and Lattimore are expressing official administration policy for Japan. Both of them work for the government. However, and what with the way Mr. Truman is firing generals and navy lieutenants who disagree with him, the best guess is that the two authors have gotten a green light for their writings.

Everybody from Acheson on down, including Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall, will deny that the Baltimore Bugle is on any official administration payroll. Take a look at this, however.

The operations research office of the Department of the Army, which handles super-secret research and weapons evaluation work, decided last year to turn over its functions to Johns Hopkins University. It signed a contract with the Johns Hopkins School of International Studies, of all things, and now funnels its secret data to that institution. Guess who runs the School of International Studies? You couldn't guess wrong, It's the Baltimore Bugle, Mr, Lattimore.

Looking at Life

By Erich Brandeis

Brandeis

One of the most difficult things for a man is to cope with a woman's logic, particularly when she is right.

The New York newspapers — and others as well—have been full of all sorts of juvenile troubles.

Gang fights, muggings, drunken brawls, dope addiction and many other youthful derelictions.

It IS very perturbing. But whenever you investigate those affairs you usually find—as I have stated before—that the delinquency is NOT due to the kids but to the parents. Often the youngsters have no parental guidance at all. They come out of institutions or broken homes. Or they may have miserable backgrounds and surroundings.

It's the old question all over again "What comes first, the hen or the egg?"

Many of these boys and girls are sent to prisons or reformatories, only to get postgraduate courses in CRIME and to become real, expert criminals when they get out.

This morning my wife remarked that if she had her way, she would send all the boys who are sentenced to jail or reform school to Korea to fight.

"Most of them are simply frustrated," she thinks. "Give them an INCENTIVE and a good cause and they'll soon get over what we call 'juvenile delinquency.'"

Then she recalled the hullaballoo made during the last war when someone suggested that thousands of the men confined in prisons should be put in the Army and Navy and made to serve their country.

"What?" exclaimed a lot of amateur psychologists and social experts, "Would you let murderers and thieves mingle with our boys and thus degrade the very cause for which we are fighting?"

So far I had just listened to my wife. We were at breakfast. The toast was crisping in the toaster. The delicious aroma of fresh-made coffee was flattering my nostrils. The fried eggs with their curly strips of bacon were not inducive to logic or argument.

But then she asked me a direct question, the question that caused the first paragraph of this column.

"Don't you think," she asked, "that we live in a very peculiar civilization when the law murders a man who has murdered someone else, but we send our boys out to commit wholesale murder in a war? We call one murder a crime, the other heroism."

And then, with an inflection of finality:

"What do you think of THAT?"

There is one fortunate feature about a woman's logic.

When she asks a question on a matter about which she has made up her mind, she does not expect an answer.

Her own question IS the answer.

So, being a husband of many years' standing, I did not answer but said only:

"Your coffee is delicious this morning, dear. Could I have another cup?"

But I have been thinking about her observation ever since.

DON'T we live in a peculiar civilization when men still murder one another—either criminally or legally?

What do YOU think of that?

Horse College Grad Tells All

Shudda Haddim, well-known horse follower, is disturbed over prosecution proceedings against the operator of a college professing to instruct players in the art of beating the races. The tuition fee was $17 for a regular course, with a post-graduate course for another $15, and it is alleged that it was a racket which took millions from the public. It develops that Shudda Haddim is an alumnus. He holds four degrees, PHD (Professional Horse Dopester), DW (Doctor of Whispering), DDL (Daily Double Loser) and DWG (Doctor of Wrong Guessers).

He was high-stand man in his class of 97 students. (Not exactly, perhaps, as the other 96 students claimed a photo finish.) "To ban a college like this is to hurt the morale of horse players," he argued. "To be happy, a turf addict has got to be kept feeling that he can ultimately succeed despite a life of failure. I have a constitutional right to be wrong and to be encouraged in it. If good old Sure Thing University can help me along this line it renders a fine service."

Shudda Haddim then showed an honorary degree conferred upon him by his college only a week ago. It reads:

"Haddim, Shudda; unemployed pantryman, turf enthusiast, student of figures and paddock philosopher: Mr. Haddim is outstanding as an American who takes severe punishment over long periods, comes back for more and presents a stirring example of perseverance in the face of all obstacles. Born of poor parents and raised in humble circumstances, his fight against any change in his general position has been vigorous. At an early age he became interested in the thoroughbred race horse, and, as time went on, he centered that interest not in the hale and hearty animal, free from afflictions, but in the old, the crippled and the unfit steed.

"In fact all Shudda Haddim needed to become its champion and supporter was to know that a horse was a wreck. Over the years he has stood firmly for horses suffering from spavins, popped osselets, bowed tendons, weak knees, split hooves and a bad wind. Mr. Haddim began life on a shoestring. He doubled it through 20 years of endeavor and is now within sight of a pair of shoes.

"Mr. Haddim is a noted linguist. He speaks Belmontese, Jamaican, Santa Anitish, Laurelese, Tropicalparkish, Suffolkese and all the dialects of the various Bowie tribes. There is no tongue in which he cannot ask, 'Whaddya hear?' He has also been a leader in experiments to determine how long a horse player can go without eating and is a charter member of the League to Make Wives Take in Washing. His alma mater is proud to confer upon him the degree of Doctor of Persistence, Doctor of Bad Guesses and Doctor of Gullibility. And what's good in the fifth?"

"I could of had another degree," declared Shudda Haddim today, "but it was a late scratch!"

Tuberculosis Society To Re-X-Ray Chests Of 416 Persons

342 Suspects To Undergo New Exams

Monroe County Tuberculosis society last night approved a plan to re-X-ray chests of 416 out of some 7,911 persons who were given free X-rays a few weeks ago because 342 are tuberculosis suspects and another 74 films proved to be unsatisfactory because of techinical reasons.

An additional 414 chest X-ray films showed pathological findings other than tuberculosis, all of which will be reported to the family physician of the individual involved, just as the tubercular suspects and those without any pathological findings are reported to the family physician.

Since the TB society is concerned only with halting spread and the prevention of tuberculosis, the society will finance re-X-ray of only the 342 cases which are suspected of tuberculosis and the 74 films which are unsatisfactory for technical reasons.

This is known as the "follow-up" program which the society pledged it would do when it promoted and cooperated with the mass X-ray of citizens of the county 18 years old and up a few weeks ago.

That program was held here through the cooperative sponsorship of Monroe County Medical Society and the Pennsylvania Department of Health.

The re-X-ray program which the society will carry out will involve usage of General hospital facilities and the facilities of various physicians who have the equipment and are able to cooperate with the re-X-ray plan.

Larger films will be used to provide large pictures for more positive study of patholigical suspects.

Findings other than tuberculosis suspects, will be handled by the individual's physician and may ential re-X-ray to bring about positive diagnosis of the other pathological findings found in the chest X-rays just read and reported by cooperating physicians of the Monroe County Medical society.

Mrs. Estelle Fleming, executive secretary of the society, said the record achieved in mass X-ray's here was oustanding. An average of 700 persons were X-rayed during the 11 days of the campaign. Interest remains high among everyone X-rayed, she reported.

Carl T. Secor, supervising principal of East Stroudsburg schools, was reelected president of the TB society.

Mr. Secor is now starting his second term. His first produced a number of eventful contributions to general public health and in services to the people of the county. Not the least of these was the mass X-ray project.

Other officers reelected were Kurt Wismer, vice president; Mrs. Gordon Savage, secretary and Morris Evans, treasurer. Members of the board elected last night included Mrs. W. R. Levering, Arthur Ifft, Mrs. Nelson Beers, Dr. Robert Brown, Dr. Paul S. Shiffer, Mrs. Harold S. Pond, Arthur Slee and M. F. Weiss.

Officers and directors were nominated by a committee consisting of Arthur Slee, Attorney Charles R. Bensinger and H. G. Heller.

Brannan Thinks Beef Production To Be Maintained

Washington (AP) —Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said yesterday farmers should be able to maintain—if not increase— beef production under price controls unless there is a drastic increase in their costs.

A short feed grain crop, with consequent higher feed prices, could change the situation, he said. However, feed production is progressing very satisfactorily, he added.

Brannan gave this view in a talk on the nation's food situation before a group of Food Trade association officials and the Washington Trade Executives association.

The secretary said he did not believe the financial incentive to produce beef cattle had been "seriously" affected by a government price rollback order, now under sharp attack by cattlemen and some farm leaders in Congress.

Coburn Caught Playing Poker

Beverly Hills, Calif. (AP)—Charles Coburn, 70-year-old Academy award winner, let his lawyer play his hand yesterday on a poker playing citation. The monocled character actor lost $15.

Judge Henry H. Draeger fined Coburn and his three Hollywood pals $50 each for violating the county anti-gambling ordinance. However, $35 of the fine was suspended on condition the boys do not play poker again for 90 days.

Attorney Alan Gray paid $15 each for Coburn, writers Morrie Ryskind, 55, and Paul Yawitz, 50, and producers Paul W. Malvern, 48, and Howard Malvern, 49.

The boys were caught early Sunday morning in the Players' club.

Jets Believed In Slovakia

Frankfurt, Germany (AP)—American authorities looked last night to Czechoslovakia for answers to the riddle of what happened to two U. S. jet fighter planes which vanished Friday.

One of the pilots was an American, Lt. Luther G. Rohland, and the other a Norwegian trainee, Lt. Bjoern Johansen.

Advices from Prague said the U. S. embassy there took up with the Czechoslovak Foreign ministry Sunday persistent rumors the planes—F-84 Thunderjets on a training flight from their Bavarian base—had landed undamaged at the Kbley airfield east of Prague and that the pilots, uninjured, were taken into custody.

"The next day, Monday, we received an acknowledgment from the Czechoslovak government saying competent Czech authorities had been requested to investigate," an embassy spokesman was quoted.

It was learned authoritatively here that the jets last reported from Fulda, near the U. S.-Soviet zone border. One plane was having radio trouble.

Poor Schools Face Loss Of Special Aid

Harrisburg (AP)—Most destitute school districts in Pennsylvania would be cut off from further State aid under a proposed new law.

A bill now before the House would prohibit special State grants to financially distressed school districts who are not levying an adequate tax rate.

The Department of Public Instruction said such a restriction would eliminate most hard-hit school districts from further State financial help.

Last year the State paid out some $1,500,000 to about 90 distessed school districts. Scores of other aid requests were tabled because of lack of funds. These grants were in addition to regular State school subsidies.

The new proposal to limit special grants was tacked on as an amendment to the 1951-53 State appropriation bill for distressed school districts. It was added by the House Appropriations committee in scaling down the original $1,000,000 allocation to $500,000. The Department of Public Instruction originally had asked for $1,500,000 for such aid the next two years.

The new amendment specifically prohibits any destitute school district from receiving State aid unless the State Tax Equalization board is satisfied the district's real estate assessment program is on a "proper" basis.

John N. O'Neill, board chairman, said that experience has shown that very few destitute school districts now have proper real estate valuations. In nearly every case, he said, assessed valuations within the district are far below actual market valuations.

Death Halts Celebration

Canberra, Australia (AP)—Joseph B. Chifley, 65, the Labor party's leader and former prime minister, died of a heart attack last night in the midst of Australia's celebration of her 50th anniversary as a commonwealth.

All jubilee celebrations for the remainder of the week were cancelled.

His collapse in his hotel room broke up a state bill and threw gloom over the jubilee proceedings. At the moment of his collapse, Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies was welcoming, in the House of Representatives, foreign guests representing their governments at the jubilee.

Menzies announced Chifley's death at the King's hall, where the jubilee ball was in progress. He said Chifley had hastened his own end "by his devotion to his own land and, indeed, to the people of the world."

Chifley became Australia's 16th prime minister in July 1945, just as the curtain was about to come down on World War Two in the Pacific, and held the office until his Labor government was ousted in the general election of December, 1949.

Most Persistent Lobbyist Taken Home By Relatives

Harrisburg, (AP)—Mrs. Olga Schwartz—the Legislature's most persistent lobbyist—will be absent when the Legislature reconvenes the 1951 session Monday.

Relatives of the 76-year-old woman took her home to Elmhurst, Lackawanna county, late Tuesday.

A State policeman escorted her from the Capitol building to a waiting automobile.

The woman, who has walked with the aid of a crutch in recent years has been lobbying for years for a $50,000 claim for the death of her husband in an industrial accident in 1909.

The 1943 Legislature appropriated $10,000 to settle her claim but she refused to accept the money, claiming it was not "a just settlement." The money was finally turned over to a Scranton bank, named as her guardian.

Mrs. Schwartz' husband was killed on a construction job. Both the contractor and the insurance company subsequently failed before any compensation was paid. The State entered the case when the insurance department was named receiver for the insurance firm.

Self-Service Market Gets Drug License

Harrisburg (AP)—A State Justice department opinion prompted the issuance of a disputed pharmacy license, a State official disclosed yesterday.

Dorr E. Crosley, director of the State Bureau of Professional Licensing, made the disclosure in answer to a charge that the license was issued over objections of the State Board of Pharmacy.

Fred Costenbader, of Palmerton, board chairman, charged Tuesday that the license was issued to the Baltimore self-service market in Philadelphia "over the heads" of board members.

In Philadelphia, a spokesman for the Baltimore market commented: "The drug department at this market is run as a concession, by two registered pharmacists. So far as the management has been able to determine this license was obtained in a regular, legal way."

Costenbader said that the board opposed issuance of pharmacy licenses for self-service stores on the theory that the dispensing of drugs is a profession that should not be operated on a self-service basis.

However Crosley said the Justice department ruled in an opinion that the State had no right under present law to forbid licenses to self-service store pharmacies providing they met all other requirements.

Crosley quoted Costenbader as saying when informed of the opinion that "I guess nothing more can be done about this."

Whereupon, Crosley said, a license was granted to the market. He said a prior inspection had shown that the store had met all other legal requirements demanded under the State pharmacy licensing law.

Red Fire Trucks, Red Faces

Gettysburg (AP)—The faces of Gettysburg's volunteer firemen were the color of their trucks yesterday—all because of the trucks.

A group of volunteers were touring Adams county Tuesday night collecting funds to aid the company's operations. A short circuit in the truck's wiring started a small blaze while on the road.

The truck was stripped of fire-fighting equipment because the men were preparing to install a high-pressure booster line. They called Gettysburg for help and a second truck arrived and put out the blaze.

But in doing so the second truck's battery went dead and both trucks had to be towed back to the company's quarters.

Jury Indicts Local Trio In Thefts

A Northampton county grand jury has indicted Charles S. Sansenbach, 20, of Washington St., East Stroudsburg, and two juveniles from the Stroudsburg area on charges of burglary and larceny, it was learned here yesterday.

The Northampton indictments are the result of two service station robberies at Portland and Mount Bethel last March.

The three defendants, who were later arrested in connection with an auto theft and service station burglary in East Stroudsburg, were sentenced in Monroe county court several months ago. All three are now serving indeterminate terms at the Camp Hill Industrial school.

Police said the three admitted complicity in the Portland and Mount Bethel incidents and also a Columbia, N. J., filling station robbery committed during the same period. Warren County, N. J., authorities have also indicated intention to lodge detainers against the ones implicated in the Columbia theft.

Anthony J. Boza, Andreas RD 1, truck driver, was indicted by the Easton grand jury on an involuntary manslaughter charge arising out of the death of Ray Borger, 26-year-old Kunkletown truck driver, last February 1.

Borger died of injuries and burns received when he was trapped in the cab of his burning truck after it had been struck by a transport operated by Boza on Route 45 near Petersville.

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

966 Persons Referred For Rehabilitation

Nearly one thousand handicapped Commonwealth residents, including a large number from the Stroudsburgs area, were referred to the Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation for preparation for gainful employment during April.

Tom E. Williams, manager of the Northeastern district of the State Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation said 131 cases were referred from this area, which includes Bradford, Columbia, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Monroe, Pike, Sullivan, Susquehanna, Wayne, Montour and Wyoming counties.

Mark M. Walter, bureau director disclosed that 966 handicapped persons were reported to the bureau by 34 different sources, including schools, hospitals, physicians, insurance companies, American Red Cross, public and private agencies, employers, labor unions, Pennsylvania State Employment service, and as a result of newspaper and radio publicity concerning the bureau's program.

One of the most difficult problems is to reach the handicapped persons as early as possible after a mishap through which they might have received an injury that will effect their subsequent gainful employment.

All Pennsylvania citizens 16 years of age or over, are eligible for vocational rehabilitation provided they can be retained for a job which will make them self-supporting. It is a highly individual service tailored to meet the needs of each disabled man and woman.

Tom E. Williams said that handicapped persons in the Stroudsburgs district should be referred to the Wilkes-Barre office, 700 Miners National Bank building.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

What a wonderful day for sewing club, thought I, just the dreary sort of afternoon when good food and bright conversation is what you need.

Well, the food was wonderful, all right, but the conversation—Somehow got started on the ills of the world, and went, from bad to worse.

Started out simply enough with the dangers which teen-age drivers playing "chicken" are surely bound for and went from there to the drug racket among children in the cities, and from there to cancer, insanity, and other cheerful subjects.

Finally, somebody said that we'd talked about everything but leprosy—and sure enough we started talking about recent books about leprosy. Wonder we didn't all come home with symptoms of something or other.

What it was, we did come home with the thought that after all, if all we had to worry about was a rainy day, we were fortunate. Nothing like talking about people's troubles to make your own seem light as a feather.

Saylorsburg Student Famed For Climbing Extinct Volcano

Mexico City, (Special to The Record)—Lawrence Englehart, of Saylorsburg, is in Mexico City where he is enrolled in the graduate school of Mexico City College.

Founded ten years ago, the college has always taken an active and enthusiastic interest in plans designed to further and strengthen understanding throughout the Western hemisphere, and is a vital force in extending and furthering the U. S. good neighbor policy.

Most of the students become proficient in Spanish and learn much of the customs of the country by living in Mexican homes suggested by the college housing service.

Englehart, a graduate of Curtis High in New York, received his B. A. degree in Spanish at Mexico City College. During the last war he served one year and a half in Europe as an anti-aircraft observer. He has led youth hostel groups to Mexico and to various European countries including France and Switzerland. He is famous on the Mexico City College campus for being one of the few mountaineers to succeed in climbing the extinct volcano Popocateptl, a snow-capped peak 17,876 feet high. He has also ascended close to the erupting volcano, Paracutin.

This summer Englehart plans to lead another youth hostel trip to Spain, Portugal, Southern France, Italy and North Africa.

He will enter CCNY school for documentary films when he returns from his tour in the fall.

U. S. Loan Eases India Food Crisis

New Delhi, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru's government last night authorized restoration of the normal grain ration as a result of the United States' "generous gesture" in granting India a loan for purchase of 2,000,000 tons of grain.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Roseto's victory over Pocono A. C. stamps the charges of Manager Hal Nerino as the team to beat in the Blue Mountain league, with East Bangor rating in the same category. The Pocono A. C. club that was supposed to run away with the circuit, according to popular opinion, at the beginning of the campaign, has found it next to impossible to take the measure of Roseto and East Bangor thus far this season.

Manager John Schoonover's club has won one of two games with East Bangor, but has dropped both outings to Roseto. West Bangor has crept into the title picture and it now appears as if the race has settled down to a four-team affair, with Pocono A. C. and West Bangor facing a terrific fight if they are to cop the laurels. The race is far from over but it's going to take some steady baseball, with the cooperation of all hands, before any one of the clubs can claim the bunting.

The play of the rival shortstops on Tuesday at Gordon Giffels field was as good as these two eyes have been in many a day. Dick Pritchard for Roseto and Jim Werkheiser for Pocono A. C. saved their respective hurlers on several occasions with some dazzling play in the short field. Bob Muhr's one-hit pitching may have been more important to him than even he realizes. If that motion of the southpaw's to first base is legal, it is one of the best ever witnessed at the W. Main St. park

Word making the round of the grapevine at the present time reveals that Muhr had an opportunity to join the DeLand club of the Florida State league, under the guidance of Manager Frank Radler. However, Muhr turned down the offer to remain at home in Bethlehem. Speaking of Radler brings to mind the fact that the former manager of the Stroudsburg Poconos hasn't pitched for more than two weeks because of an ailing arm, but is currently sporting a record of eight victories and a pair of setbacks. The losses came after Radler picked up his present case of arm trouble.

The DeLand club is leading the class "D" Florida State league in double plays at the present time and Radler passes on the information that Bill Mostransky is the best shortstop in the circuit. Mostransky is starring afield as he did last year and he's hitting the ball much better. Al Bachman missed his first game of the season for Pocono A. C. on Tuesday night, due to a smashed finger. Tom Bonser started his first contest of the campaign at third base for the Monroe County entry in the Blue Mountain league in the same game.

Al Gardella, former manager of Bangor and Peekskill teams in the North Atlantic league, is scheduled to join the Wilmington club in the class "B" Inter-State league. Gardella, recently departed manager of the Three Rivers, Que., entry in the class "C" Provincial league, will enter the Philadelphia Phillies' farm system as a player, but the move may result in a managerial position next year. Shortly after signing to pilot Bangor last season, Gardella was offered a manager's job with a Phillie organization, but the offer came too late. However, it may be a different story in the near future.

Gardella will undoubtedly take over the first base job immediately, since the much publicized Tom Casagrande seems to have failed at the initial sack. However, the former Fordham flash seems to have made good as a pitcher. Bill Greenamoyer, former hurler with Nazareth and Bangor, both of the North Atlantic league, is now on the roster of the Portland Apollos, of the Blue Mountain league. Greenamoyer also had a trial with Allentown, of the Inter-State league, earlier this season. Hal Noll, who did his pitching with Lebanon, North Atlantic league last year, was recently sent to Hamilton, Ont., by Allentown.

Ben Jones, graduate of Stroudsburg High and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, has returned home for a short vacation before embarking on a course of study at New York University that will lead to his Doctor's degree. Ben just completed a successful coaching year at Brookville High, where his varsity football team won seven of nine games, while the junior varsity grid machine finished with four wins and no defeats to win the District Nine title in that division. Jones' baseball aggregation won five of six games this spring. Brookville is a town of 6,000 population located near Pittsburgh. The High school and Junior High enrollment is 750.

Pocono A. C. presented General Manager Fred Hershey with a leather traveling kit as a going away present after Tuesday's game with Roseto. Hershey has been recalled by the Army and leaves on Friday. Mike Lisetski and Sam Cooperman, basketball and football officials who work in the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg area annually, will work in the National Football league next season, teaming with Emil Heintz and Johnny Glascott, two of the best officials in the circuit. Cooperman and Lisetski made a hit with scouts while working games in the American Football league last year.

Baseball School Scheduled For Giffels Field

Schoonover To Form League For Summer

Boys between the ages of 13 and 15 inclusive are urged to attend a baseball school at Gordon Giffels field this morning, at 10:30, if they wish to play in a league this season, it was announced last night by Doug Schoonover, director of the Stroudsburg playground.

The school has been formed to instruct the youngsters and to place them on proper teams in a circuit that will operate the rest of the summer. The organization will probably be known as the Inter-Borough League.

School sessions will be held for the most part of the first week, and plans for the league will be announced from time to time prior to opening day.

Uniformed

The teams will be uniformed for the most part and Pocono A.C. will donate balls for the school sessions. Each team will also have a backer.

Schoonover pointed out that the league will be open to any boy from Monroe county and surrounding areas and isn't limited to youngsters of Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg.

A league of this type is being formed to give boys too old for Little League and too young for the George N. Kemp American Legion Post team a chance to play baseball during the summer months.

Schoonover also announced that donations would be gladly accepted as the circuit still needs plenty of equipment.

Snider Clout Clinches Win For Brooklyn

St. Louis (AP) — Duke Snider's fourteenth homer of the year with two mates on base boosted the Brooklyn Dodgers in front and they went on to take a 7-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals last night. Del Rice had a three-run homer for St. Louis.

Snider's blow came in the fifth, immediately after Rice had tied the count 3-3 with his fourth frame four-bagger.

Set The Stage

Cal Abrams, pinchhitting for starter Joe Hatten, opened the fifth with a walk. After Gene Hermanski lined out Peewee Reese singled. Then Snider took over.

In the fourth a triple by Enos Slaughter and walk to Billy Johnson preceded Rice's hit.

The Dodgers took the lead first in the second inning on a walk to Jackie Robinson, single by Gil Hodges, and grounder by Carl Furillo, scoring Robinson from third. Roy Campanella followed with a double, bringing Hodges home and Campanella also counted when Everett Bridges singled to center.

Lowrey Scores

The Redbirds picked up a run off Clyde King in the fifth when Harry Lowrey walked, took second on Red Schoendienst's single, and advanced to third and home on two long flies.

The Dodgers regained that run in the sixth as Campanella hit his second double, scoring Furillo who had singled.

Martin Links Sports And Cerebral Palsy

By Whitney Martin

New York (AP)—You often hear the alibi offered for a beaten fighter:

Or the suggestion that a star linksman had gone stale because he was overgolfed, or a slumping baseball player was benched to give him a rest from the daily strain of competition.

The idea is that the incessant struggle to achieve or maintain a high standard of performance must be broken up by relaxation to reap the greatest benefit.

No Rest For Victims

Which probably is true, except in the case of one group. There is no rest for the thousands upon thousands of cerebral palsy victims in their constant, laborious efforts to overcome their handicap so they may lead normal, happy lives.

Maybe you see no connection between cerebral palsy and sports. Practically speaking, there isn't unless you compare an athlete's training to the never ending efforts of CP sufferers to learn to mouth simple words distinctly or to manipulate a knife and a fork.

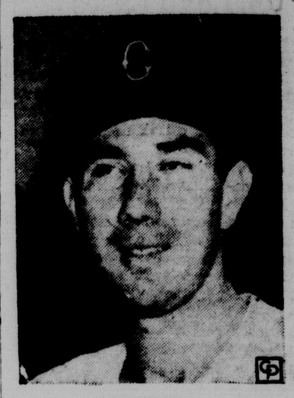
Even then the connection is vague. Only by expanding the imagination can you compare the rest-punctuated training of the sports performer with the grim, ceaseless struggle of the CP victim, whose banner is courage and an unflagging will to triumph over adversity.

This weekend sports will add a tidy bit to the fund when Babe Didrickson Zaharias and Patty Berg meet in the playoff for the Women's Weathervane Cross-Country Golf championship.

Louis, Savold Forced To Wait Twenty-Four Hours As Rain Postpones Bout At Polo Grounds

New York, (AP)—Rain caused postponement of the Joe Louis-Lee Savold "battle of the aged" until tonight at the Polo Grounds after both heavyweights weighed in.

The weatherman had an optimistic "clearing this afternoon" forecast despite the showers that dampened midtown streets and washed out a ball game this dreary Wednesday.



Bill Wight

Red Sox Blank Tigers Behind Wight, 2-0

Boston (AP)—Left hander Bill Wight pitched his best game of the season for the Red Sox yesterday, twirling the Bostonians to a 2-0 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

It was only the second shutout of the season by a Boston pitcher. Willard Nixon blanked the Browns in St. Louis 2-0 on May 7.

Wight was touched for only five hits and only in one inning, the sixth, were the Detroiters able to get more than one.

Paul "Dizzy" Trout pitched almost as well in losing his seventh game. The veteran righthander allowed only six hits and until the eighth trailed only 1-0.

"Little Slug," Vern Stephens, opened the second inning by blasting a three bagger.

Detroit	000 000 000	0	5 0
Boston	010 000 01x	2	6 0

What effect the 24-hour postponement will have on the gate is a guess. The International Boxing club still hopes a last minute rush will put the fight over. It's reported over $25,000 is in the till. Maybe they'll do $75,000 with a sunny break, and no radio or home television. Only TV will be on a closed circuit to theaters in six cities.

As for the fights, the only thing certain is each will be one day older. When you're 37, like Louis, or 35, like Savold, that's no gag—especially with 15 rounds to go.

Louis, dead serious about his ambitions to become the first heavyweight champ ever to recapture the title, wants to win this one and go on to a September date with champ Ezzard Charles.

Odds

The odd favoring Louis still hold at 3 to 1 or close to it and about even money on a Louis knockout. You can get 6 to 1 if you like Lee to stop the Bomber. But that job was done only once—by Max Schmeling 15 years ago.

Louis came in a bit heavier than expected at 211¼. He was down to 208¼ for Omelio Agramonte at Detroit May 2 and 207 for Andy Walker at San Francisco, Feb. 23. But it's way below the bulging 218 he weighed the night last September he took a licking from Charles.

Weight isn't the all-important factor with Joe. It's the old reflexes—or lack of them. Louis must prove he still has that old home wallop or forget his dream of winning back the title.

Savold weighed just 190, two pounds less than he did for his last fight—June 6, 1950. That was the night he knocked out Bruce Woodcock to win British recognition as world champion. Lee hasn't put on an ounce in three years, although his stomach used to lap over his bartender's apron.

Penn Allowed To Participate In Crew Race

Marietta, O., (AP)—Pennsylvania, the Peck's bad boy of NCAA, will be allowed to compete for National College Rowing crown here Saturday, Intercollegiate Rowing association ruled yesterday.

Thus ended, as far as IRA was concerned, dispute on Penn vs NCAA vs television vs football vs crew that threatened to overshadow the famed rowing classic.

Along with the end of the Penn-IRA dispute, this Ohio river town got word Saturday's varsity rowing race may be one of the fastest three-mile crew races in history.

River Swollen

A government engineer said rain has so swollen the Ohio that engineers plans to slow current to almost a halt by closing off dams above and below course is impossible.

This means crews from 13 colleges rowing down the Ohio Saturday will be speeded by at least a three-mile-an-hour current. One school, practicing here yesterday with a similar current, finished considerably faster than the national record.

Decision to declare Penn eligible for the regatta came after a lengthy session of the IRA board of stewards. They met five hours last night and about one and a half hours today before Penn was cleared.

At least one board member favored tossing Penn out of the regatta for its defiance of the television moratorium of the national collegiate athletic association.

Decision Unanimous

But the final decision was an unanimous one by athletic directors of the five schools represented on the board.

In a statement handed newsmen, the board expressed hope Penn will comply with the NCAA decision to televise only a few football games in specified areas during the 1951 season. Penn has announced it will defy the order and televise all its home football games this year.

In explaining the decision to let Penn row in the regatta, the IRA board pointed first to the fact that Penn's entry was accepted "in good faith" last May 31.

Chicago, (AP)—Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox jumped into the lead yesterday for the American league left field starting position in the eighteenth annual All-Star game at Briggs stadium, Detroit, July 10.

Williams, always a heavy favorite in the fans voting for all-star players, pushed Orestes Minoso, of the Chicago White Sox into second place, by a little more than 1,000 votes.

Little Nelson Fox of the Chicago White Sox continued to set the pace in vote getting with 18,812. His nearest rival was Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers with 16,923.

Although Minoso slipped, the White Sox retained a commanding lead of three infield positions. Eddie Robinson was the leader for first base, Nelson Fox for second base and Chico Carrasquel for shortstop. Vern Stephens of the Boston Red Sox held the lead for third base over George Kell, of Detroit.

In the National league fans lineup, Ralph Kiner, the circuit's home run king with the Pittsburgh Pirates, leads for the first base assignment and Jackie Robinson is out in front for the second base job.

Little League Opener Tonight

Eastburg Loop In Flag Day Program

East Stroudsburg Little League will hold its grand opening of the present baseball season tonight, as part of the Flag Day celebration at the East Stroudsburg playground. The game is scheduled to get underway at 7 p.m.

Tonight's contest is actually the third game on the schedule, but the Little league decided to hold its official opening at this time as part of the ceremonies, although one game has already been played and the other rained out. The league thought it best to begin on Tuesday, in an effort to get the circuit rolling so that it can close at a reasonable time.

R. C. Cramer Lumber Co. and the East Stroudsburg Methodists will clash in the big game, with the power of the circuit coming to blows before one of the largest expected crowds of the season.

March

Members of the league will march from the Elks home to the playground as part of the program and will also take part in other parts of the program.

East Stroudsburg's chief burgess, LeRoy J. Kleinle, will throw out the first ball.

Last night's East Stroudsburg Little league conest was postponed because of wet grounds and the East Stroudsburg National Bank and Methodists will play at a later date.

Stroudsburg's Little league game beween the Penn-Stroud hotel and Stroudsburg Security Trust was also postponed last night because of wet grounds, while tonight's schedule calls for the First Stroudsburg National Bank to meet People's Coal Co., at 6:30, at Stroudsburg playground.

Blanchard To Be Assistant Coach

Washington (AP)—Felix "Doc" Blanchard, famous back at West Point five years ago, will return to the Military academy this fall as assistant football coach.

The "Mr. Inside" of the Blanchard-Glenn Davis combination is now an air force captain and jet fighter pilot at an Alaskan air base. He will be transferred later this month to eastern air defense headquarters at Steward field, near West Point.

The Air Force said he would go on temporary duty at the Academy from July through December.

Davis resigned his army commission last year.

Chitwood's Daredevils Expected To Attract Record Crowd To Pocono Sunrise Speedway

Blakeslee — The first appearance of Joie Chitwood, a nine-time money winner in the famous 500 mile Indianapolis speed classic, in the Monroe County area tonight with his World's Champion Auto Daredevils, is expected to attract what promises to be a record-breaking crowd of thrill-seeking fans to Sunrise Speedway.

The Chitwood stuntmen, led by Chitwood himself and Christie Wentzel, will open the action on the raceway at 8:30, with tickets going on sale promptly at 6:30.

A portable lighting system will flood the track, and speedway officials announced yesterday that everything was in readiness for the Chitwood legion of daredevils, who will race, smash and leap brand new 1951 Ford stock sedans in a wild two hour program of death-defying automobile and motorcycle thrillers.

Chitwood will present as an added attraction tonight the amazing "Frankenstein" Frakes, one of the most unusual acts in outdoor show business. "Frankenstein", who has been featured on all major newsreels and was a headline attraction at the nation's biggest state fairs, is appearing for the first time in the East.

Thrilling Act

Frakes will perform his thrilling "dynamite act" in which he enters a coffin-like structure in the infield and sets off seven sticks of dynamite that blow his so-called "coffin of death" to bits and sends his body hurling through space.

The featured attraction, however, is the aerial "Rocket Car" Leap in which Christine Wentzel, of Reading, Pa.; attempts the longest automobile leap on record. This is a variation of the same auto thriller that ended "Lucky" Teter's life in 1942 and has caused the death of nine other stuntmen in recent years.

In the world's record "Rocket car" leap, Wentzel will send a new '51 Ford catapulting into space from a launching rampway, clearing another moving car passing underneath him, and then attempting to land his machine safely on a receiving rampway 86 ft. away.

Other events scheduled tonight on the Sunrise Speedway oval include the world's champion roll-over contest, the slide for life, car crashes through flaming firewalls, the "Dive Bomber" crash, and a motorcycle leap, ramp-to-ramp.

Cream Of Crop Set For Goshen

Goshen, N. Y. — The cream of the nation's trotters and pacers will compete for purses totaling more than $117,000 during the Grand Circuit meeting which opens at Historic Track here on Monday, July 2.

Historic Grand Circuit meeting, the third of the 1951 season, will be the first to be held in daylight. Meetings at Toledo and Westbury have been conducted at night.

Four Events

Historic Track race week will be ushered in by four events restricted to the fillie performers.

The top event is the $16,000 Coaching Club Trotting Oaks which lists Scotch Rhythm and Betsy Volo, two highly regarded 1951 Hambletonian choices. The Coaching Club is limited to three-year-old fillies, while the $9,000 Acorn Stake is for two-year-old trotting ladies.

The other two events on opening day are for pacers. They are $10,000 Ladyship Stake for three-year-olds, and the $7,000 Debutante Stake for two-year-olds.

Historic Track race meeting closes on Friday, July 6.

Rain Halts Game

Portland—Last night's scheduled Blue Mountain League game here between the Portland Apollos and East Bangor was postponed because of wet grounds. No date has been set for making up the contest.

USC Beats Princeton

Omaha (AP)—Southern California scored all its runs in the third inning yesterday to defeat Princeton 4-1 in the opening game of the NCAA baseball tournament, popularly called the world series of college baseball.

The USC-Princeton game kicked off a five-day double-elimination tournament, matching the eight top college baseball teams of the nation. USC, along with the Texas Aggies, was a pre-tourney favorite.

Darkness Ends Stockertown Tilt In Tie

Stockertown—East Bangor and Stockertown battled it out for eight innings here Monday, then had to quit in a 3-3 deadlock after umpires called the game on account of darkness. It was a Blue Mountain league contest.

Both O'Neil, East Bangor pitcher, and Cooper, on the mound for Stockertown, scattered five hits apiece in a nip and tuck duel. O'Neil also claimed hitting honors for East Bangor with two for three while Seibler, Stockertown first baseman, was the leading batsmen for the home team with two hits in four trips to the plate.

East Bangor scored first in the ultimate deadlock, punching through for a single run at the top of the third to take a narrow 1-0 lead.

Stockertown snapped back in the bottom of the fourth, however, with all three of their runs of the night. This feat gave the hosts the upper hand for two frames, but East Bangor came through with a pair at the top of the sixth.

The next two innings found neither team breaking the tie. Then Umpires Jones and Renaldo stopped the hot proceedings as dusk settled.

Errors On Crucial Play Help Giants Beat Cincinnati, 5-2

Cincinnati, (AP)—Cincinnati's infield crumbled in the eighth inning yesterday when errors by Virgil Stallcup and Connie Ryan helped the New York Giants score three runs for a 5-2 decision over lean Ewell Blackwell.

With the score tied at 2-2, Don Mueller opened the decisive eighth with a single, then Stallcup fumbled Hank Thompson's grounder. After Whitey Lockman flied out, Wes Westrum broke the tie with a single scoring Mueller.

Blackwell got Willie Mays on an infield roller and walked Bobby Thomson intentionally to get at Uitcher George Spencer. Spencer rapped a grounder to Ryan who threw high to Ted Kluszewski, the ball bouncing off the first baseman's glove as both men scored.

Grid Browns Swap With Detroit Lions

Cleveland (AP) — The Cleveland football Browns traded former Notre Dame end Jim Martin and four other players yesterday to the Detroit Lions.

In return, the Browns got linebacker Charley Schroll, Ed Wood, aguard now in the Marines, and first and 16th draft choices next January. They also got an undisclosed amount of cash.

The four other players acquired by the Lions are Ed Pasky, University of South Carolina quarterback; halfbacks Tom Lucia, Louisville, and Lowell Tew, Alabama; and tackle Dave Rakestraw, Tulsa. Lucia and Rakestraw were sold outright.

Utah Nine Wins, 7-1

Omaha (AP)—The University of Utah, getting fine pitching from Max Pessetto, defeated Tennessee's Vols 7-1 yesterday in the second game of the college world series.

Chamdler Pact Before Owners

New York (AP)—The Big League club owners will gather here today to say a final, official farewell to A. B. (Happy) Chandler the Kentucky statesman who has been their commissioner for nearly seven years.

Meeting in separate sessions, the National and American league heads are expected to make short work of the business at hand — the signing of a lengthy legal document which indenmifies Chandler against financial responsibility for any damages which might be awared in several suits now pending against organized ball.

All Will Sign

Lawyers for the two leagues have studied the document and say it is all right, barring a couple of minor revisions. All 16 club presidents were reported ready and willing to sign the release.

Chandler has said that, once the signed papers are in his safe, he will start to get ready to vacate the commissioner's office at Cincinnati. He has given no specific date, but said it would be "some time not too far off."

Probable Date

Speculation is that the ousted czar might choose the joint league meeting on July 9, the day before the all-star game, to tell his employers goodbye — among other things. His $65,000 yearly salary is guaranteed him until his seven-year contract expires next April 30, no matter when he resigns.

Hogan, Locke Favorites In U. S. Open

Birmingham, Mich. (AP) — Defending champion Ben Hogan and South Africa's Bobby Locke shared the favorite roles yesterday on the eve of the fifty-first U.S. Open championship, but Hogan had other ideas.

"Sam Snead should win this tournament by a mile," the normally tactiturn Texan said in a locker room gabfest while a stabbing rain outside drenched the big green monster known as Oakland Hills.

"Sam has the long driving game adapted to this course and he ought to take it," Hogan added, "but don't think I intend to tell him how."

Snead never has won an Open although he has played in 11 and four times seemd to have had the big prize in his grasp. Hogan is seeking to become the first repeater since Ralph Guldahl in 1937-38.

Unusually Talkative

Hogan's unusual talkativeness overshadowed other developments at the exclusive Michigan club wheer the 72-hole championship shoves off at 8 a. m. EST, today.

The U. S. Golf association announced that $4,000 instead of $2,000 would go to the victor. In raising the total purse from $12,000 to $15,000 in anticipation of a record crowd, the golf fathers decided to give the runnerup $2,000 and the third place winner $1,500, each a raise of $500 over original plans.

It was also disclosed that Dick Metz, veteran tournament player from Kansas City, Kansas, had withdrawn and his place was taken by Tom Draper, a Detroit, amateur. Metz was runner-up to Guldahl in the 1938 Open at Cleveland.

Heavy Rains

Activities were slowed by the heavy morning rains and most of the elite of the game spent the day in the clubhouse pondering the popular question:

Will it be Hogan, Locke or a guy named Joe?

When the field of 162 sets forth on the first round, most of the attention will be focussed on Hogan, seeking his third Open title in four years, and Locke, the jolly British Open king.

Humez Wins Crown

Porthcawl, Wales (AP) —Smiling Charles Humez of France, won the European welterweight tilt last night with a one-sided decision over champion Eddie Thomas of Wales before a crowd of 8,000 who sat through drizzling rain. Humez weighed 146¼, Thomas 145½.

Senators Obtain Kluttz On Waivers

Washington (AP)— The Washington Senators announcedyes terday that they have signed Clyde Kluttz, St. Louis Browns' catcher, on waivers. He will join the team immediately. Kluttz hit .291 for Baltimore last year.

This puts the Senators one over the limit in the number of players each team may have, but they had no announcement as to whom they would cut loose.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Sort of day out of which you serious, practical workers can really make something big. Maybe little outside help offered but by the same token few obstructions. Go to it for success.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Reward in generous portions to the sincere worker and planner. Avoid both over-persistency, and a too placid or don't care attitude. A happy medium will do the trick.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Your progress weighed mostly by effort you put forth. A. M. may present a few minor difficult matters, but judicious handling can handle them. Use your gray matter.

YOU BORN TODAY: Your dual nature has advantages but again you will also have to watch your step or with contradictory action you can bring on unnecessary mistakes. You develop wonderful ideas, may wax brilliantly about them, then sometimes drop them without a real trial. If educated and have right associations, can be a big success. Fond of travel, art, good fun. Can adapt self to situations quickly and seldom worry over past. Many Geminians are inventors, writers, lawyers, doctors, artists in politics. Curb impatience, fickleness, haste.

Birthdate of: Harriet Beecher Stowe, author; John McCormack, concert singer.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Kiwanis Club Marks Flag Day With Address On Patriotism; Citation Winners Introduced

Flag day was observed by the Kiwanis club at its meeting in the Penn-Stroud hotel yesterday afternoon when Rev. William F. Wunder, pastor of Grace Evangelical Lutheran church, East Stroudsburg, past state chaplain of the POS of A, spoke on "Patriotism."

Another feature of the meeting was the presentation of the Kiwanis citation winners at Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High schools, who were heartily greeted, also given gifts.

Alfred W. Munson, principal of Stroudsburg High, presented Andrew Weingartner, of Bartonsville, who was accompanied by his father, A. R. Weingartner. Mr. Munson paid tribute to the leadership of the young man during his course in school. Weingartner has been awarded a scholarship at Williams College, Williamstown, Mass.

Richard Hilliard, the East Stroudsburg High winner, was presented by Ralph O. Burrows, the principal. The young man was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Chester Hilliard, of East Stroudsburg. Mr. Burrows explained the democratic manner in which the choice was made and stated he considered the citation as one of the finest awarded in the school. Hilliard is the first commercial student to receive the citation.

The name of the winners are inscribed on bronze plaques displayed in both schools.

The speaker, Rev. Mr. Wunder was presented by Dale H. Learn, program chairman. Mr. Learn also stated that Mrs. Russell Sandt, of Tannersville, has the pen with which President Harry S. Truman signed the proclamation designating today as Flag day in the country. The late Mr. Sandt was national secretary of the POS of A and a leader in the organization over a period of years.

Mr. Learn stated today is the 174th anniversary of the adoption of the flag and that the POS of A was primarily responsible for the designation of the day.

The guest speaker commended the young men who received the Kiwanis citations and congratulated their parents. He also complimented the club for the Girl Scout and Clothing fund donations. He called attention to the fact the 1774 Congress set the date for the observation of Flag day and reminded his hearers of the patriotism attached to the event.

He asked what patriotism meant to each one personally, their families and the history of our country, what a person is in his own heart and what is man. Mankind, he said, comprises certain elements in patriotism.

The speaker declared mankind had ever been a fighter to overcome barriers which came his way and that there were times when we must fight alone, but God gives us the stability to fight. Man is often a victim due to circumstances.

He declared mankind has never been a moneymaker, yet money wasn't everything. Happiness, health, peace are more important. Life, he pointed out is not always a bed of roses, and that we must think to achieve. Young men will learn that thought and meditation are necessary to get on in life.

Mankind was pictured as a builder by the speaker, not only to himself but the glory of God. All man has done is as nothing compared with the great leadership of Jesus Christ who labored for peace and love.

Rev. Wunder emphasized that being of service to others was more than anything else, brings self satisfaction and gathers wealth in the bosom. Regardless of prestige, be of service to someone else from a sincere heart, for the flag we love, the God we adore, give more of ourselves day by day and this old world under God will continue, he concluded.

President Harold W. Leininger welcomed Kiwanian P. J. Rawson, Scranton, and Jim Callahan, of New York City. Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlsen gave the invocation. President Leininger leaves on Saturday for St. Louis, Mo., to attend the sessions of Kiwanis International which runs Sunday through next Thursday.

Dr. Lee Warren To Address Men

Dr. Lee D. Warren, of the faculty of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, will address the Men's Brotherhood of the Stroudsburg Methodist church at a meeting to be held at the church tonight.

The meeting will start at 7:30 p. m.

To Conduct Service

Rev. Harold C. Eaton, pastor of the East Stroudsburg Methodist church, will conduct a baptismal service at the Hauserville chapel at 2.30 p.m. Sunday.

There are almost 3,000,000 square miles in continental United States.
